KING OF PORTEGAL VISITING KING EDWARD

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 17.—The king of Portugal arrived at Windsor tonight from France, to pay a visit to the king and queen of England.

King Edward, who had come directly from Sandringham, met him at the station. The two monarchs embraced one another most cordially and then drove off to the castle, accompanied by the cheers of the crowds which had gathered outside the station and along the route. A great banquet was given at Windsor castle in honor of the royal guest. As the present is the first occasion on which King Edward has visited the town of Windsor since his illness, the inhabitants of the Royal borough gave him an elaborate reception.

The other ruler at present in England, the German emperor, had good shooting today on the estate of the Earl of Lonsdale, whose guest he has been at Lowther castle since Saturday.

The emperor will take luncheon with Lord Rosebery at the latter's seat at Dalmeny, Scotland, next Friday, on his way back to Germany.

JAPANESE TO MAINTAIN FLEET IN AMERICAN WATERS

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—The Japanese empire will maintain a permanent fleet in the American waters of the Pacific. This important announcement was made today by Fleet Surgeon C. Aoki, of the imperial Japanese navy.

"Next year," said Fleet Surgeon Aoki, "Japan will send abroad its first fleet as a permanent unit. It will be stationed on the Pacific coast of America. Its headquarters will be at Esquimault, in British Columbia, the naval station of Great Britain, our ally, and it will visit all along the Pacific coast as far south as Valparaiso. The fleet will consist of three or possibly more of our best ships and the usual number of smaller vessels to accompany them. It is expected also that we will have a fleet stationed in Europe, with headquarters in one of the big British naval stations."

FIFTEENTH VICTIM.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 17.—Frank O'Connor, 17 years old, died today from injuries received at the fire works explosion in Madison square election night. He is the 15th person to die as a result of that accident. Physicians at Bellevue hospital said today that the death of James Fenton, colored, another victim of the explosion is only a matter of a few days.

CONFERENCE ON IRISH AGRARIAN QUESTION

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 17.—A poll of the Irish landlords, which was undertaken by a committee composed of the Earl of Mayo, Lord Dunraven, Captain Shaw, E. Taylor and other gentlemen interested in the Irish agrarian question on the proposal to call a conference of landlords and tenants with a view to the sale of the land to the latter, has resulted in a vote of 1,128 to 578 in favor of holding the conference, for which arrangements will be proceeded with immediately.

A leaflet containing the result of the poll has been sent to all the Irish land owners who possess an acreage of land and upwards.

MITCHELL'S EXAMINATION

Questioned by the Veteran Attorney for Four Hours and Stood the Test Without Flinching---Alleged Irresponsibility of the Union the Chief Point at Issue.

By Associated Press.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 17.—In the presence of as many persons as could be jammed into the superior court room today Wayne MacVeagh, for the Erie company, and John Mitchell, for the miners, continued their brilliant battle of cross-examination before the anthracite coal commission. The two men, the one in his thirties and the other in his seventies, were followed with intense interest by both the commissioners and the crowd throughout the day and the contest will be resumed in the morning.

The fourth demand of the union which calls for a yearly trade agreement and which means a straight out recognition of the union was the bone of contention, and although four hours were taken up in a discussion of the question, not much material progress was made. Wayne MacVeagh, skilled in the art of cross-examination, attempted to show the utter irresponsibility of the union and its unfitness to make contracts which it could not live up to. His principal argument was the alleged boycott, and he often hard pressed the miners' president for an answer. The latter, however, slowly and deliberately gave some reply, but it did not always satisfy his inquisitor. Mr. MacVeagh, in the presence of the assemblage, expressed his admiration of the ability of the witness, and on one occasion when Mr. Mitchell parried a question regarding the boycotting of a coal and iron policeman by a hotelkeeper, the distinguished attorney threw up his hands, laughed and said:

"Mr. Mitchell, you are the best witness for yourself I ever confronted."

Mr. MacVeagh weighed heavily on what he said was a reign of terror in the anthracite region during the period of the strike. He read a list of 14 names of men who were killed during that time and also submitted in evidence about 75 printed pages of acts of alleged violence, boycott and intimidation, and, with the assistance of statistics and other documents, maintained that it would be utterly impracticable for the coal companies he represents to enter into agreements with an organization that could not control its own men.

Mr. Mitchell stoutly maintained that the discipline in the organization is as good as it possibly could be where 147,000 men are involved. He claimed that the strikers were not entirely responsible for the acts of lawlessness that were committed. He regretted that members of the union had in some instances violated the law, even after they had been warned to refrain from doing so, but made the excuse that in times of great excitement there was always more or less disorder.

Replying to specific instances pointed out to him by Mr. MacVeagh, where men had been deterred from going to work through fear of personal harm or social ostracism for themselves and families, Mr. Mitchell said that in some cases men may have been deterred, but he denied the assertion that such alleged acts prevented the mines from being operated. He said that when the strike was declared every mine worker in the region quit work and remained out, even after the entire National guard of the state had been thrown into the coal fields. In short, he said, the men would not have gone to work under any condition.

The miners' president, no matter how skillfully he was questioned, could not be driven into a flat admission that he, as president of the union, approved of the boycotts complained of by the companies. He had his personal opinions of some phases of the boycott, but would not express them as being the sentiment or policy of his organization. During the cross examination the commissioners often interrupted with questions in order to stop a long colloquy over some disputed point. While the examination was at times quite spirited, the best of good feeling prevailed. Only once Mr. Mitchell showed signs of irritability. This was when Mr. MacVeagh, reading the long list of acts of violence, would take Mr. Mitchell to task for some particularly vicious act, and say, sharply:

"You could have prevented this."

In the course of the forenoon session Mr. MacVeagh examined Mr. Mitchell regarding the eight-hour day, and referred to the fact that Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield and William McKinley worked more than eight hours a day and were thus enabled to climb the ladder to the presidency. Mr. MacVeagh grew eloquent in the course of putting one of his questions to Mr. Mitchell regarding the martyred presidents and added:

"I only mention these because they are three victims of the spirit of anarchy which is the curse of this country today and the only serious curse afflicting it."

The miners' president quick as a flash came back with the inquiry:

"Trades unions are not held responsible for it are they?"

To which Mr. MacVeagh quickly responded they were not and supplemented this with the remark that labor unions are most admirable.

The bringing of the word "anarchy" into the examination caused a distinct murmur of disapproval from the many mine workers in the court room.

When the discussion of the effect a yearly agreement would have on the coal industry in the anthracite region was in progress, frequent reference was made to the workings of agreements in soft coal regions. This led to the announcement by Chairman Gray that the commission had decided to invite Herman Justi, commissioner of the Illinois Coal Operators association to testify before the commission. This announcement was favorably received by each side and the attorneys for the miners and the operators made suggestions for additional witnesses. Mr. Wilcox, general counsel for the Delaware Hudson company, after a conference with other attorneys, handed up a suggestion that "such other witnesses, if any as the Illinois Coal Operators association may deem proper for the purpose of showing the effects of the trade agreements with the United Mine Workers of America" be invited to attend.

Mr. Darrow, counsel for the miners, suggested these names: O. L. Garrison, St. Louis, president of the Illinois Bituminous Coal association; J. Smith Talley, Terre Haute, president of the Indiana Bituminous Coal association; J. H. Winder, Columbus, Ohio, manager of the Hocking Coal company; T. W. Davis, Saginaw, Mich., commissioner of the Michigan Coal Operators association.

It is likely all the gentlemen whose names have been suggested as witnesses will be invited to come here.

The investigation is dragging too slowly to suit the commissioners and it is likely the commission will probably tomorrow ask both sides to agree upon some arrangement for expediting the investigation.

Mr. Mitchell has now been on the stand for three days and has been examined by the attorneys of only two companies. The second attorney, Mr. MacVeagh, is not yet through with him. The lawyers for the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western or the Philadelphia & Reading company will next take Mr. Mitchell in hand unless the program is changed.

The attorneys for the non-union men presented their case to the commission tonight. They have asked the commission to take up the grievance of the non-union men growing out of the strike and as the non-unionists are not a logical party to the arbitration scheme, their attorneys had been requested to give reasons why the commissioners should take up their case.

By Associated Press.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 17.—President Mitchell of the coal miners, resumed the stand today on the convening of the coal strike commission and his cross examination by Wayne MacVeagh, which was begun on Saturday, was continued. Mr. MacVeagh represents the Erie company, which operates the mines under the names of the Pennsylvania Coal company and the Hillside Coal and Iron company. Mr. Mitchell, who has been on the island since Friday morning, brought with him a number of documents and books which he frequently referred to in order to refresh his memory.

There seemed to be no falling off in the interest in the proceedings. A large number of persons patiently stood in line in the corridor of the building in the hope of gaining admittance to the hearing. Only a small portion of them were successful, the limited accommodations being almost entirely taken up by counsel for both sides and mining officials, representatives of mine workers and workmen who are employed in the mines.

Mr. MacVeagh began his examination by reading from newspaper clippings of the methods of a labor organization known as the Operative Plasterers Association of New York against the employers.

"Do you approve or do you heartily disapprove of these methods?" Mr. MacVeagh asked.

"I should say that my union has no such rules," was Mr. Mitchell's response.

Mr. MacVeagh repeated his question and Mr. Mitchell said: "I can only say that in the absence of knowledge as to the causes which made them adopt such resolutions, I am not competent to pass upon the fairness or unfairness of them. On the surface and with the information you convey to me, I should say they are unfair."

Mr. MacVeagh referred to the subject of placing the responsibility for the increased price of coal and inquired:

"Do you still feel at liberty to say that it is none of your business what additional cost the people will have to pay for their coal if that additional cost is the immediate result of your demands?"

"I have not said at any time it was none of our business," replied Mr. Mitchell. "I have stated it was beyond our control. That we have absolutely nothing to do with the selling price of coal."

"Won't your men have to work five years to make up the loss they sustained during the strike?" Mr. MacVeagh asked.

"Not by any means," was the positive answer of Mr. Mitchell.

"Mr. Mitchell, do you think you have the right to ask for an increase in wages which, if granted, would increase the cost of living to hundreds of thousands of poor?"

The miners' representative replied that there are 500,000 persons in the anthracite fields who are starving and it is their fundamental right to ask for living wages in return for their labor.

The examination for a few minutes became very spirited on this phase of the consequence of the strike and then Mr. MacVeagh turned to the matter of protecting the properties during the strike.

Replying to questions by Mr. MacVeagh on the right of private parties to protect their property, Mr. Mitchell said that the provision in the miners' constitution against pickets grew out of the Homestead strike, when a number of private detectives were employed as guards, most of whom, he declared, had been recruited from the slums of Philadelphia and other large cities. Mr. Mitchell insisted that the city, county and state authorities were competent to handle the matter.

Raising his voice to a pitch and speaking with great fervor, Mr. MacVeagh asked the witness: "Don't you know as well as you know your name is John Mitchell that in spite of the authorities of this city, of this county and of this state, this whole region has been treated for five months to a veritable foretaste of hell?"

Mr. Mitchell calmly replied, "I don't know anything of the kind."

"Well, you will before we are through with you," was Mr. MacVeagh's retort.

London, Nov. 17.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain received an ovation tonight at Birmingham, where a farewell banquet on the occasion of his departure for South Africa was given in his honor. Members of all parties joined in the demonstration as the affair was of a non-political character.

Mr. Chamberlain was accompanied by his wife and son, Austen Chamberlain.

Responding to a tremendously enthusiastic welcome, the colonial secretary paid an affectionate tribute to his American wife, who, he declared, had sustained him by her courage and cheered him by her sympathy. He had found in her his "best and truest counsellor."

Referring to his approaching trip he said it was to be a matter of business and not a mere parade. He could not expect that all the bitterness in South Africa would die out, but he could say this for the government, that all suffering would be relieved. He was bound on a new venture, and there was a possibility of failure. The government's desire was to make south Africa one united nation, united in name as well as in fact. Greater difference, he said, had been healed and he mentioned Canada as an instance to this connection. High Commissioner Milner still retained the confidence of the government. Mr. Chamberlain said he hoped to see the representative of every political section in South Africa. He then could learn more in three days than in a month's study of dispatches in the blue books. He believed he would be met half way and he would gain the friendship of the king's new Boer subjects. He took an optimistic view regarding the future of South Africa.

On the conclusion of Mr. Chamberlain's speech there was a torchlight procession and a display of fireworks. The streets were packed with thousands of persons, who at one point broke through the barrier erected to keep the crowd back. This incident created some excitement and resulted in slight injuries to a few persons.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Justice Peckham of the United States supreme court today delivered an opinion in the case of the American School of Magnetic Healing versus J. M. McAnnulty, the latter being postmaster at Nevada, Mo., where the school is located. The proceeding grew out of a fraud order issued by the postoffice department prohibiting the postmaster from delivering mail addressed to the school. The original bill asked for an injunction to prohibit the postmaster from obeying this order. On trial in the United States circuit court for the western district of Missouri, the department's order was sustained on a demurrer. Today's opinion reversed that judgment, but in delivering it Justice Peckham said there was no intention of moving upon the various constitutional objections set out in the bill the intention of the court being to "simply hold that the admitted facts show no violation of the statutes cited, by an erroneous order given by the postmaster general to the defendant which the court have the power to grant relief against." The action of the court was accompanied with instructions to the lower court to "overrule the defendant's demurrer to the amended bill, with leave to answer and to grant a temporary injunction as applied for by complainants."

The opinion added:

"In overruling the demurrer we do not mean to preclude the defendant from showing on the trial if he can, that the business of the complainants as in fact conducted amounts to a violation of the statutes."

Justice White and McKenna did not concur in the opinion.

In reviewing the case Justice Peckham quoted the plea of the Magnetic school that one human mind may control another in treating disease and said:

"One person may believe it of greater efficacy than another; but surely it cannot be said it is a fraud for one person to contend that the mind has an effect upon the body and its physical condition, greater than even a vast majority of intelligent people might be willing to admit or believe. Even intelligent people may and do differ among themselves as to the extent of this mental effect. Because the complainants might or did claim to be able to effect cures by reason of working upon and affecting the mental powers of the individual and directing them toward the accomplishment of a cure of the disease under which he might be suffering—who can say that it is a fraud or false pretense or promise within the meaning of the statutes? How can any one lay down the limit and say beyond that they are frauds and false pretenses?

"The claims of ability to cure may be vastly greater than most men would be ready to admit and yet those who might deny the existence of virtue of the remedy would only differ in opinion from those who assert it. There is no exact standard of absolute truth by which to prove the assertion false and a fraud."

Later on Justice Peckham said:

"Suppose a person should assert that by the use of electricity alone he could treat diseases as efficaciously as the same heretofore have been treated by 'regular' physicians. Would the statutes justify the postmaster general upon evidence satisfactory to him, to judge such claim to be without foundation and then pronounce the person so claiming to be so guilty of procuring by false or fraudulent pretenses the moneys of people sending him money through the mails and the right to prohibit the delivery of letters to him?"

The opinion says that many people do not believe in vaccination and in homeopathy and asks whether on this account vaccination is to be prohibited and whether homeopathic physicians are subject to be proceeded against by the postmaster general. Justice Peckham concludes that the statutes under which the postmaster general proceeded in this case "were not intended to cover any case of what the postmaster general might think to be false opinions, but only cases of actual fraud in fact, in regard to which opinion forms no basis."

WAS UNABLE TO ATTEND HIS TRIAL FOR MURDER

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, Nov. 17.—When the case of Joseph Nelson, charged with the murder of David Jones, was called in court today, Nelson's counsel stated that his client could not appear; that Nelson was dying of consumption in St. Mary's hospital, Pueblo. The court forfeited Nelson's bail of $5,000 and ordered his arrest. He will be brought back from Colorado at once.

Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 17.—Joseph Nelson, whose case was called today in Kansas City for trial on charge of murder of David Jones, and whose bond of $5,000 was declared forfeited, has been in Pueblo since last Wednesday, a patient at St. Mary's hospital and in extremely bad health. City Detective Wilson visited him today and accompanied him, apparently under arrest, on the way to Kansas City. Nelson said he had been too sick to leave the hospital in time for his trial.

PRINCE EDWARD DEAD.

London, Nov. 16.—Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimer died here today. He was attacked by appendicitis Friday and succumbed to congestion of the kidneys with which the original malady became complicated.

Prince Edward was born near London in 1823 and was married morganatically in 1851 to Lady Augusta Gordon Lennox.

[illegible] STATEMENT BY CHAIRMAN FAIRLEY

State Republican Organization Refuses to Be a Party to the Meeting to Further the Candidacy of Wolcott----Party Obligations and Promises Will Be Kept.

By Associated Press.

Denver, Nov. 17.—Chairman Fairley of the Republican State Central committee today issued the following statement in regard to the disagreement respecting the Republican ratification to be held in this city tomorrow night:

"To the Republicans of Colorado:

"A statement has heretofore been issued by the state organization calling off the proposed celebration to be held at Coliseum hall on Tuesday, November 18. At that time the organization was loth to state the reasons in full which controlled its action, but in view of the feeling which has arisen over the proposed celebration and in view of the decision of Governor Peabody and other speakers who have been invited to be present not to attend, it is due to them and to the state organization that a further statement be made to the members of the party of the reasons which have actuated them.

"The evidence is conclusive that while said meeting is upon its face to be a celebration of the recent Republican victory it is in fact a meeting to further the candidacy of Hon. E. O. Wolcott for the United States senatorship and has been arranged and will be packed so as to appear an ovation to him personally.

"The state organization cannot be a party to such methods. Republican success in the recent campaign was due to the fact that the party won the confidence of the people. To perpetuate its power it must retain that confidence and it can only retain it by keeping its promises and obligations, both express and implied.

"It was understood during the campaign that Mr. Wolcott was not to be considered as a factor and that understanding was confirmed by his withdrawal from the state and his failure to contribute to the expenses of the campaign.

"The ticket was elected upon that basis, and whatever the legislature may eventually conclude to do, the state organization and those who participate in the campaign, and won the victory, feel that they cannot participate in the Wolcott demonstration without violating the confidence of the people.

"The organization deprecates the attempt to convert the celebration of the victory won by a united party into a meeting to further the interests of a particular candidate. When the state organization turned over the arrangements of a proposed celebration to the local committee of Arapahoe county, it never for a moment conceived that such an unfair advantage would be taken of the opportunity, and it deplores the fact.

"A fitting celebration of the great victory will be held at the time of the inauguration of Governor Peabody which will be a celebration by and for the whole party.

"D. B. Fairley,
"Chairman Republican State Central Committee."

KING OSCAR'S DECISION IN THE SAMOAN MATTER

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—By previous arrangement between the principals there was today published simultaneously in Washington, London and Berlin the full text of the decision given by his majesty, King Oscar II., as arbitrator betwe n the three countries named certain claims owing to military operations conducted in Samoa in the year 1899. The decision is long and abounds in whereases and conclusions, and in substance it has been announced heretofore in the cable dispatches from Stockholm. The preceding publication, however, did not convey to the officials here a full realization of the complete victory won by Germany in this arbitration, for it appears that on every single point the arbitrator adopted the most extreme German view in opposition to Great Britain and the United States.

The arbitration grew out of claims by Germans or British subjects or American citizens for compensation on account of losses they alleged they had suffered in consequence of unwarranted military action on the part of German, British or American officers in Samoa between the first of January, 1899, and the 13th of May following. The question really at issue was whether or not the British and United States governments should be considered responsible for the losses.

The arbitrator recited that the United States steamship Philadelphia and the British Porpoise and Royalist on March 15, 1899, opened fire across the town of Apia, Samoa, directing the same against the forces of High Chief Mataafa; that the same vessels brought the newly appointed king of Samoa, Malietoa, and his forces to Mulinuu Point and supplied them with arms and ammunition for the ensuing struggle against Mataafa. In answer to the British and American claims that under the treaty of Berlin any one of the signatory powers was fully authorized to enforce the decision of the chief justice of Samoa, declaring Malietoa king, the arbitrator says:

"We have found nothing in the said general act or any subsequent agreement which authorizes one of the signatory powers or a majority of them to take action to enforce the conditions of the act or to make the decisions of the chief justice binding on the powers."

It is held that the British-American military action "had the character of a serious control over the Samoan islands and the government thereof" which was prohibited by article 1 of the general act. The arbitrator insists that the Berlin conference aimed to establish a principle that in their dealings with Samoa, the powers could proceed only by common accord and that, as the consular reports of the three powers by proclamation had recognized the provisional government of Mataafa the powers themselves were bound on principles of international good faith to maintain the situation until by common accord they decided against it.

The action of the British-American authorities "tending to overthrow the provisional government thereby established," it is held, "was contrary to the aforesaid obligation, and cannot be justified either on the plea of the validity ab initio of the said provision of the government nor its establishment under a species of force majeure."

And that, therefore, his Britannic majesty's government and the United States government are responsible under the convention of the seventh of November, 1899, for losses caused by said military action;

"While reserving for a future decision the question as to the extent which the two governments, or each of them may be considered responsible for such losses.

"Oscar."

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE DESTRUCTION IN GUATEMALA

By Associated Press.

Panama, Nov. 17.—Passengers from Central America who arrived here yesterday report the complete destruction of the territory surrounding the volcano of Santa Maria, province of Quesaltepango, Guatemala, in consequence of the recent eruption. The adjacent villages, the rich coffee plantations, with over $500,000 worth of coffee stored in bags and hundreds of lives were lost. Refugees are arriving at the port of Champerico. Over 200 fugitives sailed for San Jose De Guatemala on the Pacific mail steamer.

The exchange is rising by leaps and now stands at 1200 per cent without any buyers.

The strict censorship which has been established in Guatemala makes it impossible to get the exact news regarding the situation there. The port of Puerto Barrios is reported to have been closed. No mail has arrived here from Guatemala.

CORNELL CLUB OF LONDON.

A FATAL DANGER TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

EVERYONE KNOWS that the Republican victory in Colorado was won because the party had cut loose from boss rule and gang methods, and because a pledge was made to the people of the state that the Wolcott gang was no longer in control, and because ex-Senator Wolcott not only announced his retirement from the senatorial race, but also absented himself from the state and neither took any part in the campaign nor contributed anything toward its expense.

And everyone knows, too, that another very important reason for Republican success was the indorsement by the Republican state convention of the reform amendments adopted by a Fusion legislature. These amendments were the product of public sentiment long continued, and they embodied reforms that had been demanded by the conventions of all parties for many years past. These amendments were loyally supported by all the real Republican press of the state, and it was the disloyal bolting of them by the traitorous Denver Republican that undoubtedly caused the loss of Arapahoe county to the Republicans and the consequent defeat of Mrs. Brandt and Mr. Bonynge on the face of the returns.

Everyone knows that almost immediately after the election in Colorado was won, ex-Senator Wolcott returned to this state and the members of the Wolcott gang openly declared their intention of securing control of the Republican representatives and senators-elect, throwing out the Democratic members-elect from Arapahoe county without regard to legal evidence of sufficient fraud, and of procuring the re-election of ex-Senator Wolcott to the United States senate in spite of the will of the people of the state and in spite of the solemn pledges made to the people by the Republican campaign managers, the Republican candidates, the Republican speakers, the Republican newspapers and by thousands of earnest and sincere individual Republicans throughout the state.

And every one knows, too, that immediately upon the announcement that the reform amendments had been carried by an overwhelming majority, certain disloyal Republicans encouraged by the same traitorous newspapers that had been trying to beat the amendments at the polls, set to work to defeat the will of the people and to destroy on legal technicalities the amendments that had been ratified by the vote of the people in nearly every county in the state, the motive for this effort being the same as that which had previously prompted the bolting of the party platform.

But every one does not know, so well as Chairman Fairley of the state central committee, the circumstances that led to the break with the Wolcott High Five and the necessity for throwing overboard the Jonah that threatened the destruction of the Republican ship.

The refusal of Chairman Fairley to approve the Wolcott jollification meeting in Denver this evening, and his declaration that it can not be considered as a state party affair, are entitled to consideration as the acts of the official head of the Colorado Republican party, who is trying to keep the pledges that have been made and to defend the party against the fatal danger with which it is threatened.

The Republican victory was a victory without Wolcott and against Wolcott. It was a victory outside of Arapahoe county and against the Arapahoe county majority. It was a victory won by the honest Republicans of the state, who repudiated Wolcott gang methods and loyally supported the Republican state platform and marched to victory under the efficient leadership of Chairman Fairley, with the help of the independent voters of the state, and by methods that were sneeringly denounced by the Wolcott gang as "kindergarten politics."

No Republican who has the slightest regard for solemn political pledges, no citizen who favors good government and decent political methods, and no candidate who has been elected by the help of independent voters on the pledges and promises that have been made, can afford to put himself in the attitude of indorsing the outrageous breach of good faith to the people and the fatal blunder in party policy that is now proposed and is being promoted by the Wolcott gang and the Denver Republican.

There is nothing in the Arapahoe county results to celebrate, for there is only the record of unnecessary defeat and disaster.

There is nothing in the general state result for the Wolcott gang and the Denver Republican to celebrate, for it was won without them and against them.

The meeting tonight in Denver is the effort of camp followers to steal the fruits of victory. It is an attempt to betray the party into the hands of the enemy for personal ambition and gain.

All honest and loyal Republicans should govern themselves accordingly.

The serious ill health of the Grand Duke Michael of Russia is the more important on account of the unfavorable condition of the emperor, Nicholas. His health has been for a long time a matter of grave concern to his physicians and the strong probability is that his life will not be a long one. As the emperor has no son, and no other brother than Michael, the next in the line of succession is the uncle of the czar, the Grand Duke Vladimir.

It is stated on pretty good authority that Colombia will interpose no serious barriers to canal construction. This is probable. The United States is fortunately in a very favorable position. Panama may be better than Nicaragua, but it is not so very much better that the United States can afford to be driven into extreme measures.

GOVERNOR ORMAN DECLINES TO PARDON.

GOVERNOR ORMAN has carefully considered the petitions addressed to him for and against the pardoning of the Colorado City gamblers, who were recently sent to jail by Judge Cunningham and has refused to exercise the right of pardon conferred upon him by the laws.

The reasons that have induced the governor to take this action were undoubtedly those set forth in the strong statement made by the district judge at the time the sentences were pronounced. In cases where sentences had been repeatedly and many times suspended upon promise of future compliance with the law, and such promises had been invariably broken, where threats and warnings had proven futile, and where the law was not only broken but openly and persistently defied, the judge of the district court found himself with no other alternative than to enforce the law or to confess the failure and weakness of the law.

And when those facts were presented to the governor, supported by the strongest evidences of public sentiment that have been secured in any case for many years past, the governor doubtless felt that to could not, as the chief executive of the state, overrule the action of the district judge, nor could he believe that a further promise to observe the law was a sufficient pledge from those by whom it had been repeatedly violated.

The action of the governor makes it additionally certain that the evil of public gambling has been eradicated from this county, and it will not be permitted to re-establish itself so long as the present officials retain their positions.

And with gambling we trust there have also departed some other notorious public evils for which the gamblers may not have been directly responsible, but which have found shelter in the laxity of enforcement of the laws. The bunco and confidence games that were so prevalent last summer were not only a disgrace to this city, but a serious injury to its most important business interest. With the gambling houses closed and the saloons of the county strictly regulated according to law, it is to be hoped that the bunco men will not make their reappearance. But if they do they should be sternly and vigorously suppressed.

The puncture of the bubble of Wall street speculation will have a beneficial effect upon the solid business interests of the country, even though it may produce momentarily unfavorable effects. The mad scramble after certain stocks that happen to be in the fashion, and the betting upon whether certain stocks will go up or down, are about as far removed from real business as anything can be, and there should be no sympathy wasted over the losers in such games. The general business outlook is favorable, and the necessary regulation of the big trusts in the interests of the people is not going to be blocked by a few fits on the part of stock gamblers in Wall street.

The New York city fire department has declared against parlor matches, and after January 1st it will be scratch-only-on-the-box or smell sulphur in that city. The parlor match is declared to be persona non grata to the fire department and to the insurance companies and so dangerous when in combination with the small boy, the mouse or the careless stepper as to make it an unfit element of civilized society. Other cities may profit by New York's example.

Democrats are demanding impossibilities of the short session of congress. The proper consideration of the regular appropriations and the clearing up of a few special orders like the territorial admission bill is about all that can be reasonably expected. But there is already some talk of an extra session, and if the Democrats are really sincere in their demand for new legislation, they should be prepared to give a hearty indorsement to the president's call for the new congress in March.

Every time some politician has reason to feel dissatisfied with the result of an election he is apt to rush into print with the declaration that woman suffrage is a failure. This is nonsense, of course, and very poor judgment at that. The people are much more likely to be right than the politician, and the best thing for the latter to do is to take his medicine quietly and wait for a good chance to try again.

New York is having a great fuss over the alleged discovery by some wealthy young men disguised as tramps of Democratic frauds in some precincts. But in Denver nobody needed to be disguised to learn what the Democratic machine was doing. All that was necessary was for a duly registered voter in one of the "savage" precincts to try to vote the Republican ticket.

Senator Dubois of Idaho is quoted as saying that the west went Republican because of the enactment of the irrigation law. That undoubtedly had something to do with it, but it was not the only cause. And it will take more than the irrigation law to keep the west Republican.

If the reports of airship successes continue it will be only a short time until they are as great a danger and nuisance as automobiles. They will have this advantage, however, that they will be more dangerous to those in them than to the general public.

President Roosevelt has been in the west long enough to know the difference between Rocky mountain climate and Mississippi valley weather. If his bear hunt is spoiled by rain he knows where old General Humidity is permanently outlawed.

Now is the time that Colorado Springs ought to be making special efforts toward securing tourist business for next summer. A liberal advertising policy, with a few national conventions on the side, would bring most desirable results.

Emma Goldman's latest speech was like an exhibition of snake charming—thrilling to the spectators but no real danger. The fangs of anarchy had been carefully extracted.

The general volcanic activity continues and eruptions are reported from Samoa and Stromboli. Evidently there is something doing in Vulcan's workshop.

A wealthy Minneapolis man recently dropped dead while playing a chess game. But in some other cases it appears to be perfectly harmless.

Fitz Mac's recent article on the "Golden San Juan," published in this paper, is receiving much favorable comment in that part of the state.

In one Chicago precinct the vote counted was three times the vote cast. The Chicago swing is too modest for Denver.

President Roosevelt is not the sort of hunter that would shoot a bear tied to a tree with a rope.

What Others Are Saying.

The candidacy of the Hon. Irving Howbart for the United States senate is a little premature, inasmuch as the Democrats will have 10 majority on joint ballot in the legislature. But if anything should happen that a Republican senator should be chosen we would rather see Mr. Howbart elected than any other Republican in the state. He resides here, his interests are here and he assuredly would represent the state better than Wolcott, who resides in the east, and comes to Colorado only when he wants something. Besides, Mr. Howbart is a clean, honest, straightforward business man, which counts a whole heap when compared to Wolcott.—(Cripple Creek Press.

An Invitation.

(Pueblo Chieftain.)

Colorado has not been a popular place for capital for a long time.

But now there is no reason why it should not come here with the same confidence which is to be seen elsewhere.

Abusive hostility to capital, studied methods of doing it an injury (which have mostly failed of effect), outlandish freaks of legislation and threats of legislation, have turned both money and enterprise away in disgust, and they have gone to rival states and accomplished wonders of improvement.

But they need do so no more.

Colorado is as safe for legitimate enterprise, whether it is or is not armed with the financial sinews of war, as any of the orderly American states. It has placed a double guard over the possibilities in anti-everything legislation—the house of representatives and the governor. Neither will allow the passage into law of measures hostile to worthy improvement.

So now the people of Colorado will in turn have a right to expect that capital will come here.

We extend an invitation to persons of enterprise and means to investigate the 12 remarkable resources of this rich state. We ask that they will no longer turn away from here in favor of localities which have not half the actual possessions that Colorado can show.

These resources of the central state of the vast Rocky mountain country are marvelous, and are only partially developed. There are fine openings here for men having brains, pluck and money.

Come to Colorado and see what there is in sight—not mere possibilities and prospects but good things actually in sight.

Restore the Grand Jury.

(Pueblo Star-Journal.)

Colorado needs restoration of the grand jury system. As a measure of economy it was abolished some years ago and the filing of criminal charges was made wholly discretionary with the district attorney for that section of the state where an alleged crime is said to have been committed. Another change in the law made it possible for the district attorney to refuse to file an information, or having filed it, to enter a nolle in the case without consent of the court or without explanation save his own arbitrary will. It is too much to expect men properly to exercise this extensive power in every case. It would not be human for them to do so.

But the greatest evil that has developed from abolition of the grand jury is the removal of the wholesome fear that found lodgment in many minds that behind the closed doors of the grand jury room any delinquencies, any acts without the law, any violation of statute, that might, "with a pull," be kept in the dark, would be revealed and made the basis of criminal prosecution. A grand jury has always been a well-defined restraining force upon men who might be, to use no more harsh term, careless in their conduct in official position. Colorado has seen the need of such restraint in every section during the years that have elapsed since the grand jury became a thing of the past.

The next general assembly should enact a statute making perhaps no great change from the information system of preferring criminal charges, but requiring that in each county of the state there shall be a grand jury at least once each year and, in counties of the first and second classes, not less frequently than twice a year. The drawing of these grand juries should be safeguarded by well meditated plans so that it will not be possible for collusion in the selection of men for the service. It might not be a bad plan for the federal system of jury commissioners to be adopted, giving the selection of grand jurymen and petit jurymen to the care of men of the highest standing in the community to whom no appeal could be made for favor in choice of those whose duty it will be to search into places where light is not wanted, but is yet needed.

Mr. Howbart's Candidacy.

(Cripple Creek Times, Ind.)

According to a dispatch in this morning's Times from Colorado Springs, the Hon. Irving Howbart of that city, has consented to become a candidate to succeed Senator Teller, in case the coming session of the legislature contains a Republican majority.

This announcement will be hailed with delight by a very great many Republicans of Colorado, who are weary of boss domination in their party, and anxious to see a Republican sent to the senate, if one is to be sent, who will come from the people and not from among the politicians and cronic office seekers and holders.

Mr. Howbert is the ideal candidate for that element of the party.

In no sense of the word has he ever occupied the position of a boss of any degree in the party. His activity has been that of a worker, one who thought only of helping the party to attain success, without at any time asking or even desiring personal reward.

He is simply a patriotic, public spirited, broad minded citizen, possessing in a remarkable degree an appreciation of the duties of the citizen towards the state.

Indeed, the Republicans can not find in their ranks a more worthy successor to Senator Teller than Mr. Howbert.

In every way he is the peer of any man in all the attributes that are necessary to make an intelligent, upright and creditable United States senator.

He is a man of lofty private character and of high ideals.

He is pure in life and honorable in business.

He has always endeavored to build up the industries of the state, and to protect her citizens, and better the condition in every way he could.

In fact, Mr. Howbert is one of Colorado's most foremost citizens.

The election on Tuesday last resulted in almost complete victory for the Republicans in the state and county. The exceptions may be the apparent re-election of Shafroth for congress in the first district, and of the election of enough senators and representatives to return Teller to the United States senate.

For the causes which led to this result in the state, Democratic incompetency and grafters are largely to blame. The party, as a whole, has wanted to do right, and has done right, but it has the misfortune to mistake the character of some of the men it jonahed with offices and party disgrace and party defeat has been the result.

We especially regret the defeat of Edward C. Stimson for governor, for we firmly believe that two years of his administration would have made the Democrats invincible in the state.

However, there is no need to cry over spilt milk, and we shall hope for the best in the administration of affairs by the Republicans, in both the state and country.—(Dubuque Bugle.

The editor of this paper took the position when the Populists began to fuse with the Democratic party that the end would be disaster to both parties; that as soon as fusion had run its course the People's party would be destroyed and then its members would, for a time, return to the parties from which they came. Tuesday's election demonstrated that our position was correct. The Populists for the most part looked upon the People's party as practically disintegrated and refused to support nominees of the party Tuesday, but allied themselves with the old parties from which they came.—(Monte Vista Journal.

Republican success insures the confidence of capital in our state, and we may expect during the ensuing two years to witness many investments that would not otherwise have been made, an era of prosperity most appreciable. Now drop politics and get to work, lets develop the resources of our country and strive to build it up. It cannot always be politically handicapped.—(Westcliffe Tribune.

Thwarting the People's Will.

(Cripple Creek Times.)

Some of the newspapers of the state are straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel as a result of the recent election in this state.

In one column these pretend to decry the alleged election frauds in various parts of the state, especially in Arapahoe, and in another column on the same page they scheme to have the Rush amendment defeated.

The tender and even affectionate regard for the will of the people which is manifested in one column is entirely overlooked in the other.

It must not be forgotten that the people have voted on the Rush amendment.

The people have by their vote most emphatically said that they want home rule for cities. They want the people to have a right to vote on public franchises and rights of way.

They want to give the various cities in the state the right to make their own charters. They want to lop off the horde of officials which now encumber the state and county treasury.

There is no mistake about this. There is no question that the people understood this amendment and voted on it intelligently.

Otherwise the Rush amendment would have slipped through, too.

The result of the election showed that the people of this state wished to incorporate into the constitution of the state all of the proposed amendments except the Australasian tax amendment.

Then why talk about referring the matter to the supreme court of the state? Why talk about finding some way to prevent the enforcement of the amendment?

That amendment is now the organic law of this state.

All of the requirements have been complied with. The legislature proposed and the people ratified this amendment and they should be given an opportunity to derive the benefit of it.

If it is a bad law it is none of our business. Certainly the individual or the act of individuals have not the right to change it in the most remote way.

Then let these newspapers that are urging the people to find some way to defeat the amendment cease from troubling.

The people know what they want and they have spoken.

Does it behoove a few editors to say that the people do not know what they want, or that they are not wise enough to say what they shall have?

These editors are not wiser than Abraham Lincoln, who believed that the great judgment of the people was the law of the land.

It is imbecile inconsistency for these newspapers to raise in one column a howl against thwarting the will of the people at the ballot in Arapahoe, and then in another seek themselves to thwart the will of the people by trying to devise a scheme for defeating an amendment which the people have approved.

It seems to a reasoning man that it is less of a crime to defeat the will of the limited number of people that live in two or three districts of a city than it is to seek to thwart the will of the majority of a state.

The Colorado Springs Gazette of yesterday morning contains a timely editorial upon the duty which Governor Orman owes to the people of this state in using the power of his office to prevent illegal and fraudulent voting in the city of Denver. Our chief executive wields a power which if exerted in behalf of a free and fair ballot on next Tuesday will redound to his credit for all time and will win for him the thanks of the law abiding and honest-minded people of the state. Let us hope that he will grasp the opportunity.—(Greeley Republican.

The Gazette has been one of the best and most reliable Republican newspapers during the entire campaign, and it deserves a great deal of credit for the push and enterprise shown by its Sunday's issue, which has given the Republicans renewed courage and stimulated them to win a grand victory next Tuesday.—(Colorado Springs Western Enterprise.

Turn 'em Out.

(Loveland Reporter.)

No matter what members of the next assembly may have been fraudulently elected throw them down if it can be proved. If Democrats of Denver were elected dishonestly, prove it and kick them from the state house; if Republicans from Huerfano were elected in the same manner, prove it against the fellows and throw them out.

Spare no one.

Let the investigation be free from politics and bias.

No honestly chosen representative of the people should be barred out merely to elect a United States senator. Let honesty for once prevail.

Let's be decent—everybody. Nothing else pays.

It will be pitiful to add another two years to the term for which Colorado has been sentenced for idiocy; to herald to the world that, for the sake of some office, Colorado's manhood has prostituted itself, and made liars, sneaks, rascals and perjurers of what might be honest men.

Let an investigation which will investigate be held; not an investigation which merely invalidates and intimidates.

Be decent—as man to man, be decent—not deceitful.

There is much talk in the Democratic papers as to the four hat candidates who have been rightfully elected, will be robbed of their seats. There is little cause for such fear. It is certainly evident that the frauds which have been committed—and it is admitted by everybody that there were those of the greatest character—should be probed to the bottom. Justice is what we ask—justice for everybody concerned. The Republican party cares too much for its own future welfare, to do anything which is contrary to the will of the people of Colorado. It realizes that the highest power is the will of the people.—(Crested Butte Pilot.

The Senatorial Situation.

(Aspen Times, Rep.)

Wolcott will never be senator from Colorado—of that the people may rest assured. Even should the Republicans secure a good majority on the joint ballot, the Republicans themselves know the dangers and perils that beset them. They know that such a choice would be disasterous to the interests of the party in the state. Wolcott has had his honors and now it is time for him to stay where he belongs anywhere outside the state. The Republicans wish to be united but many of them will work with the Democrats and Populists and Socialists before they will vote for him.

A "rummage sale" is in progress at Colorado Springs. If it were located down here in Pueblo we might contribute an empty Democratic barrel, a lot of campaign bills marked O. K., but no funds, and a clothes basket full of disappointed political hopes.—(Pueblo Chieftain.

The Denver News is causelessly and needlessly alarmed over what it is pleased to term the danger of ex-Senator Wolcott's election to the United States senate in place of Senator Teller. The facts are that if the general assembly was unanimously republican Mr. Wolcott wouldn't stand a ghost of a show of an election to the senate, for the reason that he is out of the race and has no aspirations in that direction. Even if he were a candidate, Colorado Republicans are not fools enough to hazard their future ascendency in state politics by electing Mr. Wolcott. His name will not be considered in the Republican caucus for that or any other position in the gift of the party. Should it be deemed necessary four years from now to choose the least of two evils the Republicans might select Mr. Wolcott to fill the chair in the senate now occupied by the junior senator from Colorado, but it is no other event will he be considered. There are other Republicans in Colorado just as capable and whose claims on the party are just as strong as Mr. Wolcott's.—(Fort Collins Courier.

Universal Enthusiasm.

If you had been in Colorado Springs last Saturday night and witnessed the enthusiasm that was displayed there by members of all political parties in ratifying the Republican victory in Colorado it would have set you to thinking. When there is universal enthusiasm over the election of any political party, it means something. It means that it is the proper thing for the best interests of the state. This enthusiasm is not confined to Colorado Springs and El Paso county. It is state-wide. Even here in Teller county hundreds of Democrats admit that it was the best thing that could have happened for the interests of progressive Colorado. They give different reasons why this is so, but they are of the opinion just the same. This general enthusiasm means that the people of the state are going to be with the administration; it means that in the many matters that will be taken up by the new administration for the betterment of the conditions of the state, and its people the administration will be backed by the wholesome support of the people themselves irrespective of party or political affiliation.

This condition of affairs certainly augurs well for the future of this state, which is soundless in undeveloped resources and should soon become the greatest state under the flag.

Humane Society May Order Killing of Sick Animals

Yesterday the jury in the district court which heard the evidence in the case of Nixon brothers vs. John L. Nelson, Francis B. Hill and Arthur J. Savage returned a verdict in favor of the defendants. The plaintiffs were suing for damages in the sum of $125 alleged to be the value of a mare which the defendant Nelson had killed upon orders from the defendant Hill, agent for the Colorado Humane society and Savage, a veterinary surgeon. The plaintiffs claimed that the killing of the animal was unwarranted but the defense convinced the jury that the mare was too sick to ever recover and that the killing was an act of mercy.

Criminals May Profit by Economy of County Stat[illegible]

If the position of the board of county commissioners in a case which has just come up is to be followed out as a rule a man may commit a crime in El Paso county and go scott free if he manages to cross the state line.

H. C. Nourse, alias W. W. Cole, alias James Younger, alias J. C. Foster, is in jail at Keokuk, Ia., and he is badly wanted by the police officers here for forgery. The officers have been looking for him for months and it appears that he was placed under arrest at Keokuk by the chief of police there because he inadvertently let it be known that he was wanted in this city. The Iowa chief immediately wrote to Chief King of this city, giving a description of the man and wanting to know if he was needed here and Chief King replied that he was.

Under the name of Cole the prisoner worked for George Bernard here about Mr. Bernard's stables during the races last spring. It is claimed that he forged a check, signing the name of Foster thereto and passed it upon Charles Voss. This was about in September and the man disappeared. He was tracked to Denver and then to Pueblo, where the State fair was then in progress, but the officers were never able to put their hands upon him.

Yesterday Undersheriff Grimes was before the board of county commissioners and asked them if they wanted to go to the expense of sending for the prisoner, telling the circumstances of his crime. The board took the position that it thought Mr. Voss should put up some of the expense money to bring him back and intimated to Mr. Grimes that it did not care to assume the responsibility of ordering him brought here. It is therefore likely that the alleged forger will go free.

Justice Wants Parties to Take a Change of Venue

Because the court himself was practically a witness to the offense charged against James Brennan, Justice McClelland would rather the attorneys for the defendant would take a change of venue. Brennan is charged with larceny and assault. It is claimed that Saturday evening he was engaged in stealing some lumber from a house being built by J. W. Pring on the west side, when Pring caught him. Then, so it is claimed, Brennan made a vicious assault upon Mr. Pring. He was arrested by Police Officer Scofield.

Mr. Pring called for help while he was being assaulted and Justice McClelland was among those who went to the scene. He would therefore prefer not to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused, even though the warrants were sworn out in his court.

"Although if found guilty, his guilt would have to be proved before me by the complaining witness," says Justice McClelland.

Gazette Employes Organize a Mutual Aid Association

Employes of the Gazette held a meeting yesterday afternoon and organized the Gazette Mutual Aid association. In nearly all the big newspaper offices of the east such associations are in vogue and they are very successful. The idea is to be of mutual aid and benefit to each other and to help the members in distress or in illness. A regular benefit will be paid the members when they are ill.

The membership is limited to actual employes of the Gazette Publishing company. An initiation fee is charged and a weekly assessment made upon the members until a certain amount shall be secured, when assessments will cease until a member is ill. The charter is open until the first of December. The general plan of organization is along similar lines to associations of the same kind elsewhere.

Harry Shelton, of the Gazette "ad alley," was elected president of the association, W. D. James, linotype operator, vice president and C. S. Keep, Associated Press operator, secretary and treasurer. Practically every member of the Gazette force will enroll as members.

Sensational Allegations Made in Answer in Suit to Cheyenne Case

Trial of rather an interesting case was taken up by Judge Cunningham and a jury of six in the district court yesterday. It is entitled Francis E. Bumstead vs. Kate Wagner and Bertha Wagner. The plaintiff is suing for damages in the sum of $1,000, claiming that the defendants agreed to sell him water rights and residence premises located on the Cheyenne road, asserting that they accepted $10 from him to bind the bargain.

The defendant, Kate Wagner, retorts with a sensational answer. She claims that the property originally belonged to her husband, Henry Wagner, of whose estate she is now administratrix, and which is as yet unsettled. She claims that the plaintiff came to her in Denver and represented that the property in controversy was not worth more than $2,800 and that it was decreasing in value. It was then under lease to one R. A. Brewster according to the answer, which goes on to say that the plaintiff alleged to the defendant that his sister wanted to build a home on the property. The defendant says that she had known the plaintiff since childhood and that she relied upon his honesty and upon his representations and agreed to sell him the property.

She claims that he agreed to look out for her interests as he would if she were his widowed sister and pleads her ignorance of business matters and the usages in such transactions. She claims that the plaintiff told her that she could sell the property before the estate was settled and without an order from court and she signed an agreement for such sale. She admits she accepted a check from him which she at once returned. As a counter complaint she alleges that he has since threatened to send her to the penitentiary if she did not give him $1,000 or sell the property, and has caused her much mental anguish. She asks judgment against him for $500.

Wilcox and Haycraft Make Good With the Cant Hook A[illegible]

With significant promptness a large number of the city clergy found their way to the City hotel yesterday in good time for the square meal to which they were invited by the management of the Helping Hand wood yard. After a social half hour, they were shown into the regular dining room, and seated at the ordinary dining table. Dr. Pinkbiner being at the head, with Father Powell at his side, the latter asking the blessing. The meal consisted of beef, potatoes, slaw, beans, bread, butter and coffee, the usual fare. One of the number exclaimed, "I believe I am yankee enough to call for my 'snacks.'" The spread was pronounced most wholesome and the poor preachers of the north end especially, seemed to make the most of the opportunity to enjoy a square meal for once. Dinner over, the guests inspected the house throughout and then the wood yard was visited. For a time the divines were rather shy, but presently Dr. Bridey of the United Presbyterian church tackled a saw and proceeded to his task. Dr. Pinkbiner and [illegible] to steady the log for him [illegible] Lutheran divine was not equal [illegible] United Presbyterian [illegible] position [illegible]. Then followed Drs. Gregg, Braislin, Wilcox, Ormes, Haycraft and others. Father Powell was judge and Dr. Gregg was timekeeper. Dr. Wilcox was declared the best man, and he remarked, "I could do it in half the time with my coat off."

Dr. Braislin was the scientific sawyer of the crowd, and, had the contest been prolonged, he might have done the best time. But Mr. Haycraft was the best chopper. Strange to say, the younger men of the cloth, Light, Rawlings and Heizer, didn't do a stroke of work because, they said, the real thing has been of such recent experience to them that they enjoyed looking on for once. The ministers inspected the wood at both yards and were agreeably surprised to see so large a stock of the finest wood for its purpose. Returning to the house, the regular Monday's meeting was held. Rev. J. O. Paisley in the chair. The principal paper on "Congregationalism" was read by Rev. M. D. Ormes. During the meeting the news came that Governor Orman had refused to pardon the imprisoned gamblers, and the announcement was greeted with loud applause.

Before adjournment a most cordial vote was passed in acknowledgment of the privilege of looking over the es-tablishment and of sampling their food supplies.

The directors of the Associated Charities held a regular meeting at the City hotel yesterday afternoon and organized for the new year with the following officers:

President of the board, Rev. Jas. B. Gregg, D. D.

First vice president, Mrs. E. Cass Goddard.

Second vice president, Mrs. A. B. Blake.

Treasurer, Mr. George R. Buckman.

General secretary, Rev. E. Evans Carrington.

Chairman executive committee, Rev. J. W. Finkbiner, D. D.

Thousands of Women Suffer and Many Die, Owing to False Treatment.

Paine's Celery Compound

Never Fails to Banish Disease and Re-Establish Lasting Health.

Thousands of women are kept in sickness for months and years owing to false treatment and the use of worthless medicines, and we are inclined to believe that Milton thought of this class of almost dying women when he said:

"The angelic guards ascended,
mute and sad."

The common sense treatment of today for weak, rundown and suffering women, is Paine's Celery Compound. This marvelous medicine is spoken of in every part of the civilized world, and men and women of all classes derive new life from its use. M. Elizabeth Messick, Marietta, Ohio, writes about her rescue from a low condition of physical weakness; she says:

"Eight years ago I was most successfully operated on for an ovarian tumor, weighing twenty-five pounds. After the operation tonics and foods were used in vain to bring back strength. In some way Paine's Celery Compound came to the rescue, and it really seemed that four doses produced a change. I was then sixteen years old, and had three years more of school work. Your compound is the only thing I have to thank for strength during the last three years at school. Now, I am eight months of each year in the South in home missionary work among the freedmen. This last spring I would have had to give up, but one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound made me over again. My sister cured her eczema with Paine's Celery Compound. We recommend it to all."

Commissioners and Jailor to Take Trip to Denver

It is now quite likely that the board of county commissioners will make the repairs at the county jail with respect to the plumbing very thorough and they may carry out the original plan to replace the whole plumbing system.

Commissioners Rouse and Fairall and County Jailor John L. Nelson will go to Denver today to inspect the Arapahoe county jail in order to get a comprehensive idea of the management of that institution and the sanitary condition and when they return it is probable that the work on the El Paso county jail will be ordered.

Said to Be Raising Cain on East Moreno

"Man raising cane on east Merino," is a note scribbled on the police sergeant's desk at police headquarters so that he who runs may read. The name of the man who is said to be raising the cane is given but it is understood that no arrests have been made so far.

Steel Contractors Here for Final Settlement

Yesterday the board of county commissioners were engaged in making a final settlement with the American Bridge company which has had the contract for the steel work on the new county court house. The work is entirely completed by the contractors.

El Paso Carriage Company Builds Handsome Wagon

The El Paso Carriage company has just turned out an undertaker's wagon for the Carrington Undertaking company. It is probably the first wagon of the kind built in the state and is a splendid piece of workmanship. The body is piano finished, it has 1,000-mile axles, carriage springs and gear and the wheels are rubber tired. Mr. Carrington believes in home trading and decided to place the order at home. He is more than satisfied with the job and has saved money by it.

Death of Miss Clara Humphreys Here Yesterday

Miss Clara Humphreys, aged 17 years, a niece of Mrs. F. F. Castello of this city died here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Castello yesterday. The funeral will take place in Denver from Hill's undertaking parlors at 10 a. m. Wednesday and the interment will be in Fairmount cemetery there. Prior to about four months ago, Miss Humphreys lived in Denver, where she has two brothers, George and Charles Humphreys. Miss Humphreys' mother died in Denver last January.

Homer Reed Will Be Laid Up for a Few Days

Homer Reed, right end on the Colorado college team, will probably not be able to play in the game with D. A. C. Saturday. He was hurt in Denver during the game with the Denver university and will be laid up for a short time. He will be able to play Thanksgiving, however.

The report that a man wearing Colorado college football uniform sustained a broken leg by a fall in Denver is unfounded, or at least no man connected with the college in any way was injured in that manner.

Genter-Ady Wedding Took Place Yesterday

The marriage of Miss Grace C. Ady, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Ady, to Mr. Edward A. Genter, occurred in the family residence, 1515 North Tejon street, yesterday at noon.

Only near relatives of the contracting parties were in attendance and there were no reception features. The minister officiating was Rev. Dr. James B. Gregg.

The apartments were decked with American Beauty roses and white chrysanthemums. A dainty gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with silk applique, was worn by the bride. She carried bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Genter left for the east later. They intend being away until about Christmas and upon their return they will reside at the Antlers, if their home in Ivywild is not yet completed.

BRIEF CITY ITEMS

ANSWER WAS FILED—Defendants in the case of Elveretta Johnson et al. vs. Robert L. Smith et al. yesterday filed an answer in the district court.

TRANSCRIPT FILED—Transcript of docket of the case of Williams & Miller vs. William and Lizzie Losey was filed in the district court yesterday. In Justice McClelland's court the plaintiffs were given judgment.

TO READ TESTIMONY—A stipulation was filed in the district court yesterday in the case of George E. Schaaf vs. Greenlee & Son, that the testimony of F. J. Hakes, as given in the county court may be read by the attorneys for the plaintiff.

PROBATE MATTERS—Judge Orr of the county court yesterday continued the final settlement of the estate of J. Morgan Booth until February 9. Probate of the will of the late Mary A. Older, was continued until November 24.

DORCAS SOCIETY—The Dorcas society of the Swedish Lutheran church will give a social next Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Youngdahl, 214 North Walnut street. The receipts will be for missions. You are heartily welcome.

SMALL BLAZE—Two bed quilts hanging on a line at the home of City Bacteriologist F. H. Martin at 742 East Cimarron, caught fire in some mysterious manner yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and the fire department was called out. There was no damage.

SUES ON NOTES—Florence L. Rossbach filed suit in the county court yesterday against F. F. Noxson for $857, alleged to be due on promissory notes secured by 25,000 shares of stock in the Empress of Japan Mining company and by 60,000 shares of stock in the Cortez Mining company.

LOST A GOOD DOG—Fire Chief Baty is on the lookout for "Jack," his pet cocker spaniel, which was stolen from his home, 824 North Nevada, by a small boy Saturday. The boy rode up to the yard on a bicycle, fastened a wire around the dog's neck and rode off, dragging the dog with him.

WARRANTY DEED—By a warranty deed filed with the county clerk yesterday, the First Cumberland Presbyterian church transfers to Oliver W. Spicer for a consideration of $1,000 part of lot 4, block 46, Colorado Springs. The deed is subject to the confirmation of the Rocky Mountain presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian denomination.

HAMILTON UNION—Hamilton union will hold a parlor meeting Tuesday evening at 805 East Monument. There will be music, an address on "What the W. C. T. U. Has Accomplished," also a selection read by Miss Lake and a reading by the president of the Wise Y's, Miss Davidson. More than the usual good time is expected. Everyone, men and women, cordially invited.

BIBLE STUDY—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Congregational church will start a class in Bible study on Tuesday evening of this week. It will be held at the home of Miss Brigham, 1220 N. Nevada, and will be conducted by W. A. Platt. All who would be interested in such a class will be very welcome. The meeting is called at 7:00 o'clock sharp. E. H. Livermore, president C. E.

POWELL FILES CLAIM—Delos Powell filed a claim in the county court yesterday against the estate of the late Winfield Scott Stratton for $93. It is itemized as follows: For decorating grave, $65; for lumber for casing and building platform, $8; four extra men, one day, $2 each, $8; furnishing one man watching flowers on grave, $2 a day, $12.

NEW SUIT FILED—The Colorado Springs Electric company filed suit in the district court yesterday against H. H. Stevens and the Alta Vista Hotel company for $271.75, alleged to be due for electric light service between February 1 and October 1, 1902. A suit filed some time ago involving the same issues was dismissed in the district court yesterday at the costs of the plaintiff.

TO HAVE GRAND BALL—Jewish people of the city have decided to give a grand ball, probably on Christmas night for the purpose of raising funds to purchase a section of burying ground in Evergreen cemetery. A meeting will be held this evening at the home of M. K. Meyers, 118 East Costilla street, to further discuss the matter. A committee on arrangements has been appointed consisting of A. Obendorfer, M. Safron, M. K. Meyers, J. Salich, W. N. Shapiro and I. Oppenheimer.

A Penny Saved is a Penny Gained

The GAZETTE WILL START A BANK ACCOUNT FOR YOU FREE

Safe Blind
Safe Find

The greatest men of our country, the men who have made their fortunes by the sweat of their brow, are strong advocates of the benefits that a bank account confers on man or woman. It matters not whether they are merchants or wage earners; give them a bank account and the opportunity to save their earnings and they will rise and take their proper place in this world's work. In no state in the union is there a greater need of thrift than in Colorado, and the Gazette, ever to the front in promoting those things that mean a "Greater Colorado" intends to take part in the work of helping the people to save their money.

READ OUR PLAN

The Gazette has made arrangements with several of the strongest savings banks of the state whereby anyone who becomes a subscriber to the Gazette for a period of three months, paying the first month's subscription, sixty cents in advance, shall have a bank account started with the sum of one dollar to their credit. That is to say that in consideration of any man, woman or child becoming a subscriber to The Colorado Springs Gazette as aforesaid, the Gazette agrees to furnish the subscriber with a steel savings bank and to start a bank account with the sum of one dollar to their credit with the banking institution nearest to their home. A liberal rate of interest will be allowed by each of the banks.

The Bank Keeps The Key

You slip in your quarters, dimes and nickels when you are flush with small change. Bring the box to the bank at intervals and get credit in your pass book for its contents. Before you know it you are carrying a BANK ACCOUNT of good proportions, and saving has become a habit. Deposits made through this safe may, however, be withdrawn at ANY TIME. This right looking up of the little sums indifferently tossed into the fund is the ONLY plan that makes daily saving a success. Unreflecting people are astonished to see how quickly this matter develops from a trivial thing into an interest of genuine importance.

You Have the Bank

It is not what you EARN, but what you SAVE, that makes you well-to-do.

The Colorado Springs Gazette has made contracts with the following institutions to receive deposits and will add other banks to the list in all parts of the state as soon as arrangements can be made.

The Colorado Springs Trust Co.
COLORADO SPRINGS.
Capital Paid Up.....$250,000.00

The Pueblo Title and Trust Co.
PUEBLO, COLO.
Capital Paid Up.....$250,000.00

The First National Bank,
VICTOR, COLORADO.
Capital Paid Up.....$50,000.00

The Financial Contract Security Co.
DENVER, COLO.
Capital Subscribed.....$1,250,000.00

Full information regarding the plan may be obtained at the Gazette office in Colorado Springs or by calling on or addressing

A. A. SWAN, 411 E. & C. Building, Denver, Colo.
W. L. ORANGE, 21 N. Union Avenue, Pueblo, Colo.
ALFRED FIELD, 348 Bennett Ave, Cripple Creek, Colo.

In all of the above towns the Gazette is delivered by early morning carrier.

This idea appeals to all classes and all ages. The laborer, the professional man and the business man all see the advisability and good points of such a system. It is simple and safe. It is sure and it will be the means of starting many a fortune in this city. The boy or the man, the girl or the woman, can profit by it and to all it appeals. Dimes, nickels, quarters, halves and dollars can be saved whereas if the attempt were made to carry them around in the pocket until a sufficient amount had been collected to start a bank account at some regular banking institution, they would be spent before the next dime, quarter or dollar was raised. Once in the bank it is safe and laid away for a rainy day. The old adage, "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves," has been proved true time and again and this system affords a chance to take care of the pennies.

Not only that, it strengthens a habit that makes character and inspires confidence. It is not the trifle saved, it is the principle; the training of a child to secure something it can call its own; the habit of laying something aside that may be applied to any purpose the child has set its heart on.

The little Home Savings Bank is a solid steel bank, which is kept at home and is always handy. The slot through which the money is deposited is protected by a patented device, so that it is impossible to jolt or pry the money out when once placed therein.

When the bank is handed to you, it is securely locked, and the TRUST COMPANY KEEPS THE KEY. You take it home and drop your coins or bills into it as you can spare them. About once a month bring your bank book and your little bank to the Trust Company's Office, where it is unlocked, the money counted in your presence, and the amount, whatever it may be, placed to your credit on the bank book. The bank is then locked up again and handed back to you.

You Become a Backer

Save Against a Rainy Day

Remember the Gazette will start your account with one dollar which absolutely belongs to you.

GENERAL SHAKE-UP BY PUEBLO MAYOR

Complete Reorganization of the Committees of the City Council—Lloyd Will Fight.

Pueblo Bureau
With Colorado Securities Company.
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Pueblo, Nov. 17.—At the city council meeting tonight the mayor reorganized the committees throughout by appointing new men and new chairmen to everyone of the committees. Alderman Lloyd vigorously objected on the ground that all committees were appointed for the entire year of the council's life, and further on the ground that the mayor had no right to cast a deciding vote. President Flynn, however, announced that the motion to confirm the appointments had been carried, and Mr. Lloyd announces that he will test the matter in the courts. A committee was appointed by the president to go to Denver and confer with the railway superintendents regarding the new Main street viaduct which will be built.

SKILLED LABOR—Attention of the east seems strongly attracted to Pueblo's skilled mechanics and artisans, as scarcely a day passes but some man is called toward the rising sun by an alluring offer from some sort of a corporation needing the best of skilled labor. Among the latest examples of this was the departure of John Hoerle, assistant superintendent of the C. F. & I., who left Saturday for Lawrence, O. to accept a position with the American Steel Trusts company, and the departure today of Dan Marshall, electrician at the brass furnaces, who has just gone to Johnstown, Pa., to accept a tempting offer from the light and heat company there.

ANKLE BROKEN—Tony Putke, 9 years of age, fell from a wagon on lower Main street this morning, and had both bones of his right ankle broken. He was taken to the police station where City Physicians Campbell and Kidwell set the bones.

DEER AT THE DEPOT—A fine buck deer from near Durango is now a decoration on the union depot lawn. A doe is expected in a few days. They were sent here by Indian Agent Walpole.

NEW ELK LODGE—Quite a crowd of Pueblo Elks went to Salida this afternoon where with a large delegation from Cripple Creek and Canon City, they will install a new lodge tonight.

GASOLINE EXPLODED—A gasoline stove exploded at the rooming house of Miss Boyle, 212½ North Union, this afternoon. Nearly the entire fire department was called out and the flames were soon extinguished without serious loss.

GAVIN MAY RECOVER—Austin Gavin, the traveling freight agent of the Midland, who was so seriously hurt at Rifle on Saturday, was formerly a resident of Pueblo, where he was manager of the Foley Lumber company. At first his life was despaired of, but today it is learned that strong hopes are entertained of his ultimate recovery.

CHARGED WITH—J. H. Gomez, who is in jail at Trinidad, is wanted here for forging a check on James Fitzpatrick for $85. The officers there have been notified to hold him when they are done with him.

TAX LEVY—So much complaint has been made of the prospective raise in the tax levy by the city council, that a committee was appointed tonight to confer with the Business Men's association on that subject. For the same reason the county commissioners today decided not to make a raise.

GARNER EXONERATED—Gilbert Garner, who shot O. J. Reeves in the leg at Overton on October 19, and who for some days eluded the officers, but finally came to the city and gave himself up, was discharged in the justice court on preliminary examination today, as the testimony showed that Reeves had a knife and tried to use it on Garner prior to the shooting.

ARM INJURED—Frank Fenn, formerly deputy state game warden, but now a Santa Fe conductor, had one of his arms seriously injured yesterday by the derailing of a car in the Denver yards.

MISS MAY'S FUNERAL—The funeral of Miss May, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hickey, of 1235 Abriendo avenue, took place yesterday afternoon. The flower bearers and pall bearers were all young lady friends of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Lehman of St. James' chapel, officiated.

MISSED HIS WAY BACK—On Saturday August Cuno, a bartender in the saloon of Lormin, was sent to the Pueblo Savings bank with checks amounting to $65. He failed to find his way back, but ventured out of hiding today and was arrested by Police Officer Shaffer. He was just going after a ticket to Ft. Worth.

WAGES INCREASED — The 65 switchmen of the Colorado & Wyoming road here have been notified of a raise in wages today of from three to four cents per hour.

BOWLING CLUB—The Bessemer Bowling and Social club has elected the following officers: James Doyle, president; James McGee, vice president; J. H. Hicks, recording secretary; C. Sherman, financial secretary; George Kuppinger, manager; J. A. Cross, doorkeeper; Frank Shaw, conductor.

STRUCK BY HAMMER—A sledge hammer flying through the air struck Tom Burke on the head and stunned him. He is lying in the hospital in a precarious condition.

COLLISION—Last night a Rio Grande locomotive ran into a string of freight cars in the yards, doing considerable property damage.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT—Willie Martin, 8 years of age, while climbing into a heavy wagon, got his left leg caught in the spokes of the wheel and was carried around and against the axle. The bone was so badly broken and flesh so lacerated that he is likely to lose his leg.

GAMBLING DEVICES TO BE DESTROYED

Cripple Creek Will Soon Have a Notable Bonfire--Little Interest in Tax Sale.

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 17.—The entire attention of Judge Seeds was taken up in the district court this afternoon in what might well be termed a court of inquiry. The inquiry was directed against an abundance of gambling paraphernalia that had been taken in hand by Sheriff Robertson, under explicit orders issued by Judge Seeds. The court, it appeared, desired to be fully advised as to whether or no the gambling tools in possession of the sheriff had been in use just prior to the confiscation, and the moment this had been established, no further questions were asked. In only one case did an attorney really appear, and that was when the cause of the People versus Kite was called. It appeared that Kite had given a mortgage on his place of business, that included a roulette wheel. Counsel argued that as the wheel was not in active use, when the mortgage was given, the state could not confiscate it. On these lines Attorney J. Maurice Finn argued quite learnedly, citing the Sixth Colorado as ample authority. He was overruled and gave motion of appeal. Judge Seeds decided that all the gambling tools in the hands of the sheriff should be destroyed, and said that an order to this effect would be made at his earliest convenience. It is understood that destroying means burning, and that there will be a big crowd out at Sheriff Robertson's bonfire goes without saying.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE — Miss Queenie Smith, residing at Fourth and Warren, and working in the Red Light Dance hall, took a large dose of morphine this evening with suicidal intent. Dr. Hereford was immediately summoned, and after using the stomach pump freely for some time, pronounced the girl out of danger, and if she does not attempt to repeat the dose, as she says she will, she will undoubtedly recover.

TAX SALE—The tax sale this morning was nothing in comparison with former years. Bidding was very low all through the sale, and the regular buyers of tax deeds who in the past have always been good bidders, were either not present, or they did not want tax titles. Different kinds of property was sold, including a number of mining claims, and the most bidding and buying was done by district people. Other years, it has been very noticeable that many bidders were outside people.

SPRAINED BACK—Archie Sutherland, aged 22 years, was injured this morning by lifting a heavy load on the Vindicator mine, near Independence. He was brought to the Sisters hospital in this city. After an examination at the hospital, he was found to be suffering from a very badly sprained back, but the attending physicians tonight say his condition is not at all serious.

SEVERE LESSON—J. J. Miller, the liveryman on West Bennett avenue, who was robbed of $160 yesterday, by one of his employes, who took the money from a desk in the livery stable, today with the aid of the police, got the young man to divulge where the money was hidden, which was afterwards found, and tonight the case against the boy was dismissed, thinking that two days in jail had taught the young man a severe lesson. The boy will be taken back at his old position with the liveryman, a sadder but wiser young man.

NEW TRIAL—A motion was filed today in the district court for the granting of a new trial in the case of Kate Firstbrook versus the Vindicator Gold Mining company. Mrs. Firstbrook was awarded $5,000 damages last Thursday in this court for the death of her husband on the above property.

MARRIAGE LICENSES—Marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk and recorder today to H. W. Phillips and Lydia A. Ruby, both of Victor, and Albert A. Townsend and Edna Wilcox of Duffield, Colo. Later in the day the last named couple were married by the Rev. Franklin of this city, and immediately left for their home a few miles west of this city.

INTEREST IN FIGHT—The Newhouse-Bennett fray at the Rovers Wheel club in Pueblo next Friday night is taking the attention of the local followers of the gloves. The bout is scheduled for 20 rounds, and if each man is as fit as his followers declare, they will go the limit to decide the fight. Bennett will have a strong following from this city, where he is in training, it being his home. A large number of the local sports are going down with the expectation of seeing a first-class fight.

SENTENCES SUSPENDED — Two cases of truancy and incorrigibility were tried before County Judge Frost today. The sentences on W. Barker and Leonard Van der Weyden were suspended during good behavior.

TAXES IN DISPUTE—A suit was filed on Saturday by the Strong Gold Mining company against County Treasurer D. J. McNeill, asking that he be restrained from selling their property for taxes. A dispute in the amount of taxes due was the cause of the suit. J. R. Dixon of Pueblo, and Joseph C. Helm of Colorado Springs are the attorneys for the Strong company.

VISITOR IN CAMP—Mr. Arthur C. Johnson, private secretary to Senator Patterson, has been spending a day or two in camp. Mr. Johnson was formerly a member of company E, Colorado volunteers, and was correspondent for the Rocky Mountain News while in the Philippines. Late last night he left for Denver, and on Thursday of this week he starts for Washington to resume his duties during the coming session of congress.

RESIDENT AGENT—The appointment of A. Chester Beatty as resident agent for the Stratton Independence company, Ltd., of London, Eng., was filed with the county clerk today.

HEART DISEASE—Heart disease caused the instant death yesterday at noon of John Westall. Deceased has lived on a ranch on Four Mile for many years, and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He was 59 years of age. His only known relative lives on a ranch a short distance from that of the deceased [illegible] formerly [illegible] Summit county, and came there from Illinois. Later he settled in this district.

SMALL BUT INCONVENIENT STRIKE AT LEADVILLE

By Associated Press.

Leadville, Colo., Nov. 17.—The car repairers employed by the Denver & Rio Grande railroad in Leadville went out on a strike this morning. The men have been dissatisfied with their wages and asked a 3 per cent increase, which was refused. The strike affects only about 10 or 12 men, but has caused some little inconvenience to the company. New men will be brought here from other points on the railroad to take place of the strikers. It has been the custom of the road to allow the men to quit work earlier in the evening during the winter months when the days are short. The repairers ordinarily work 10 hours per day, but in the winter season, when darkness comes earlier in the evening they have been allowed to quit after nine hours of work. The company, however, only pays them for nine hours when they are working short days and this is one of the grievances which the present strike is intended to settle.

The repairers held a meeting Sunday night and decided that they would walk out unless their demands were granted and yesterday morning when Foreman J. B. Dorsey informed them that no increase would be granted at present they refused to go to work. Another meeting was held yesterday afternoon and the men decided to abide by their first decision.

PROSPECTORS POISONED.

By Associated Press.

San Bernardino, Calif., Nov. 17.—A party of prospectors headed by Henry Arnell, who is well known all over the desert mining district, has arrived here bringing word of the discovery in southern Nevada of the remains of several people supposed to have been a party of prospectors.

Arnell and party had been prospecting in Nevada and were on their way to this city, intending to come by the way of Mormon Springs. When near what they supposed was Timber mountain they were attracted to a spring by a luxuriant growth of vegetation around it, which could be seen for miles. Upon nearing the spring they were startled to find first a part of a human skeleton, and a little farther on the remains of several other skeletons, showing that quite a party had perished.

Although the finding of a human skeleton on the desert is not an event that creates much excitement, the discovery of the remains of an entire party caused much wonder among the prospectors especially when they were so near a water supply. The cause of their death was soon revealed, however. No sooner had the members of the party drank water from the spring than they were seized with cramps, some of them suffering intensely. Suspecting that the water contained a mineral poison, Arnell cautioned his companions against drinking more of it, and after resting over night started for this city, bringing with him samples of the water. The water was analyzed by a chemist and proved to be heavily charged with arsenic.

TRADES ASSEMBLY [illegible]

Partisan Resolution at Victor Was Voted Down After Lively Discussion.

Victor Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Victor, Nov. 17.—An interesting meeting of the Cripple Creek District Trades and Labor assembly was held last night at Engineers hall in this city. Among other business a resolution was introduced commending W. R. Hearst of the New York Journal and Chicago American for the fight he recently made in behalf of the striking anthracite coal miners in Pennsylvania, and for the ardent interest he displays at all times in the welfare of organized labor. The resolution elicited a spirited debate. The Socialist members of the organization bitterly opposed its passage, while the Democratic members of the body gave the resolution their heartiest indorsement. The resolution was finally voted down.

KEATING-BARNES—At 4 o'clock last evening two of Victor's most popular people were united in marriage by Father F. Downey at the Catholic church. The groom, Mr. William J. Keating, is an old resident of Victor, his only absence from the district being during service with the army in the Philippines. Miss Clara L. Barnes was the name of the charming young lady, who formerly resided in Durango, but who has been a resident of Victor for some time, and is prominent in society and church circles. Mr. and Mrs. Keating will be at home to their friends next week at 612 Victor avenue.

SMALL FIRE—Fire last night destroyed a small outhouse at the Golden Cycle mine above Goldfield. People residing in the vicinity of the mine discovered the blaze and extinguished it without the assistance of the fire department. The damage amounted to about $40.

DIED—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Inskeep of 410 Alamo street, died yesterday morning, and was buried from the residence this morning at 10:30 o'clock, interment taking place at Sunnyside cemetery.

BORN—Mr. and Mrs. Al O'Rourke, of North Third street, are rejoicing over the arrival of a 10-pound boy, who arrived last night.

RETURNED—City Attorney Ferguson has returned from Colorado Springs, much improved. The judge went to the Springs a week ago, feeling somewhat under the weather.

BACK FROM ILLINOIS—Officer Jack Burnham returned last night from a six days' trip to Illinois, where he was called on important business.

CHEAP TELEPHONES—The Colorado Telephone company is making arrangements for putting in a number of 10-party residence lines, making this system to the people at a rate of five cents per day, or $1.50 per month. Today a great many orders were taken in this city, and if business keeps up at this rate all the private residences in this city will have telephones in their homes.

SHOEING RECORD—The Victor Carriage & Shoeing shop made what they claim to be a world's record today. They claim that two fitters put on 218 shoes in 10 hours, the highest record ever before known being 160 in 10 hours. They claim that this is the highest that any shoeing shop has ever made.

NORTH STAR BALL—The North Star club, at their meeting last night, made arrangements to give a grand ball, supper and musical program the day after Christmas, December 26, at McCarville's hall. This club is one of the largest in the district, claiming between 700 and 800 Scandinavians as members.

REPORT OF THE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINER

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The annual report of A. R. Serven, chief examiner of the civil service commission, shows that during the last fiscal year there were 59,558 people examined in and for the classified service, of whom 40,509 passed and 12,298 were appointed, promoted or transferred. In addition 1,174 persons were examined for the Philippine service, of whom 480 passed and 694 failed. The local boards of examiners especially designated for the custodian service were discontinued. On June 30 last the total number of local boards of examiners was 1,128 with a total membership of 3,725. Final steps are now being taken to consummate the complete organization of a civil service district similar to the Boston district, with headquarters at San Francisco, in immediate charge of a consolidated board of commissioners. The written examinations required the preparation of 488 sets of examination questions on different subjects which necessitated the preparation of 1,851 separate sheets of tests.

Over 250,000 sheets of examination questions were handled. The great complexity of the work done under the direction of Chief Examiner Serven is shown by a large number of examinations which include subjects of a special professional, scientific or technical character. Of these there were 208 examinations in which 8,257 persons took part. Well nigh every field of professional or scientific inquiry and research is represented in the variety of the examinations. A commission has held competitive examinations in every state and territory except Alaska. Several attempts at examination work in Alaska have been attempted but abandoned. Another effort, however, may be made soon. Facilities have been furnished to residents of Hawaii to compete in the general and local civil service examinations in Honolulu and Hilo, and residents of Puerto Rico hereafter may take the general and local examinations at Ponce and San Juan. Much attention has been given during the year to the upbuilding of the service in the Philippine islands.

FRENCH DEPUTIES.

By Associated Press.

Paris, Nov. 17.—The chamber of deputies commenced today a debate on a bill introduced by the Socialist party which provides for the dividing of the house into a number of standing committees to deal with a variety of matters, such as the customs tariff, labor, agriculture, public works, army, navy, foreign affairs, education, commerce, industry, hygiene and posts and telegraphs. After adopting the first clause of the bill and fixing the number of committees at 16 the house spent the remainder of the sitting in the discussion of amendments.

The results of the ballots would seem to indicate a majority of 20 in favor of the bill, which, if it is passed, will be a long stride in the direction of a return to the legislative methods of the first French republic.

ANOTHER MURDER IN MEXICO BY YAQUIS

By Associated Press.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 17.—A story has just been brought here by George F. Joseph of the Santa Maria Gold Mining company in Mexico, telling of the murder by Yaquis of a mining man. Joseph Haynes, accompanied by a number of rurales who went to Yaqui Grande to bring in the body of Captain J. F. Sullivan, the murdered American engineer, found the dead body of Albert Flores, a mine owner, and operator in the vicinity of San Marcial. He, like Sullivan, had been attacked by the Yaquis who killed him and his Mexican servants. It is said the bodies of the victims were badly mutilated. General Torres has left Hermosillo for the scene of the recent murders to see what can be done with the forces at hand.

The various roads of Sonora are said to be infested with Yaquis who shoot Mexicans at every opportunity.

TO DEMAND REDUCTION IN HOURS OF LABOR

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Thirty-five thousand textile operators in 300 mills in this city will make a demand upon their employers for a reduction of their hours of labor from 60 to 55 hours a week. This was decided upon at a meeting of delegates representing 29 unions which embrace the entire local textile trades. After a long discussion they arrived at a unanimous decision. It was said today that the demand will be submitted to the manufacturers not later than January 1.

The action of the conference will be reported to each individual union by the delegates at their meetings this week. Then each union will elect 11 delegates who will meet the legislative and the organized committees of the Central Textile union. At this meeting written demands will be prepared and the exact time for submitting them to the operators will be decided upon.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

By Associated Press.

San Diego, Calif., Nov. 17.—The Crown Prince of Siam spent this morning in a ride across country in company with his aide de camp and the secret service men. The Siamese minister and other members of the party spent the morning fishing on the bay. This afternoon was spent on the bay on one of the government launches.

FRESH ERUPTION OF THE VOLCANO STROMBOLI

By Associated Press.

Rome, Nov. 17.—A fresh eruption of the volcano Stromboli occurred yesterday evening, accompanied by a terrific spectacle, visible from all the northern part of Sicily, the flames rising from the volcano illuminating the surrounding sea.

The situation of the few inhabitants of the island of Stromboli is precarious. They are frightened especially by the washing ashore of great quantities of dead fish, which have been killed apparently by submarine disturbances.

A number of yachts from Naples and other places have visited the waters surrounding the island to allow those on board to view the eruption.

CONTRACT FOR TELEPHONE CONDUITS IN RUSSIA

By Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—An American firm today was awarded a million dollar contract to construct a system of telephone conduits in this city. The contract provides for the laying of 29 miles of underground tubes in 1903.

The city of St. Petersburg is preparing to install a model telephone system. A Chicago firm has secured the contract for the switchboard.

DEATH OF CELEBRATED WESLEYAN PREACHER

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 17.—Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, the celebrated Wesleyan preacher, died suddenly in this city tonight. Mr. Hughes was one of the leading spirits of the social purity movement and anti-gambling league in England. He was president of the Wesleyan conference in 1898-'99 and was past president of the National Council of Evangelical Free churches.

SANTA FE DOUBLE TRACK.

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 17.—Work is progressing rapidly on double tracking of the Santa Fe line over Raton pass in Colorado. The double track will extend from Elmoro to Jansen on the Colorado side and from Morley to Raton in New Mexico. Part of the double track is already in operation and it will all be completed early in the spring.

DRAINED BY EL PASO PUMPS

Third Level on C. K. & N. Is Free From the Water Which Has Been Flooding It—Excellent Showing on the El Paso Property.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 7.—Lessees on the C. K. and N. property will be enabled to go to mining in the third level this morning if they so desire, as the water which has been flooding it for months has passed away. The cause for this is that the El Paso pumps have taken it out. It is not likely that the manager of the lease will immediately put men in the level, as it is likely that not a little rock will drop in during the next few days. However, there is not much danger of this kind to be expected, for the reason that there is little or no lime in the rock of this camp, so that there is no slacking. Miners from other sections who inspect underground workings here declare that walls in veins in the district are of a solid character, and that the fillings in the fissures is also the same. C. K. and N. with another level opened and in a much better grade of rock than that mined in No. 2, will at once become an important factor in figuring up the total output of the camp.

It is just like the ticking of a clock over at the El Paso these days. Manager Brainbridge has things down to a science. Ore is coming out at a rate that must be most gratifying to all people connected with the mine. Everybody would be talking for dividends were it not for the great expense that must follow the running of a tunnel over 4,000 feet in length, of which these dispatches gave full details some days ago. At that there are miners on the El Paso, and not a few, who are investing all their savings in the stock of that property, confidently believing that large dividends will begin about the first of the new year.

President De La Vergne of the Isabella will be one of the most pleased men in the district provided the leasing company that is now operating on the Alhambra strikes pay ore. The Alhambra was one of Mr. De La Vergne's pet propositions in 1894 and 1895, and he was not a little chagrined that he did not find a body of ore. Still he has never lost faith in the property. The Alhambra is on the southwest slope of Squaw mountain.

The Elkton company management is not a little enthused and it has a right to be for in following south into the Thompson ground the ore shoot that was left by the company years ago, and that is now being broken at a handsome profit by a lessee has been entered 200 feet below the deepest surface workings on the Thompson. At this depth the vein is strong, and it is claimed will average $20 per ton.

Diamond drills are now being used by the St. Patrick company in crosscutting its property. So far this plan of development has next proved profitable in this district, but now that it might be just the thing for the St. Patrick.

L. C. Newcomb, George Frey and D. L. McCarthy have given a lease and bond on the Gilt Edge property on Straub mountain to J. L. Wells, who thinks he can open up a mine in that ground. Mr. Wells is like many other miners in this district. He has great faith in Straub mountain.

GOLDEN CYCLE IN TROUBLE

Factional Fight in Board of Directors Results in Litigation Between a Stockholder and the Mining Company and Short Line Over Right of Way—Midland Terminal Said to Be Interested.

Late Saturday afternoon notice of an injunction was served upon the officers of the Golden Cycle Mining company and the Short Line Railroad company restraining the former from allowing the latter to build its tracks in to the Golden Cycle mine.

This step marks what is undoubtedly the beginning of a bitter controversy between the Short Line and the Midland Terminal over the business of the Golden Cycle company and incidentally between two factions in the Cycle's board of directors. About a month ago the Golden Cycle company granted the Short Line a right-of-way over its land to connect with the mine, the latter being already connected by spur with the tracks of the Midland Terminal company. This right-of-way was conveyed by deed which was duly recorded at the time. The Short Line immediately began work and now has the route all graded ready to lay the ties and rails. The opposition waited until this was done before taking any action. Saturday a small block of stock in the Cycle was transferred to Asa Fisher, an employe of the Midland Terminal railroad. Later in the same day Mr. Fisher brought the injunction proceedings as a stockholder of the Golden Cycle company, the name of the Midland Terminal railroad not appearing in the case. Mr. Fisher is represented by Attorney K. C. Schuyler, however, who is known to be the attorney here for the Terminal. In his complaint Mr. Fisher states that the Golden Cycle company already has ample railroad facilities and, furthermore, that two of the Cycle's board of directors, Mr. Ballard and F. J. Campbell, oppose the granting of the right of way. While the case is thus in reality between the two railroads the bringing in of the mining company as one of the defendants is liable to call attention to the factional character of the board of directors of the Cycle company. As is known by all mining men, John T. Milliken, president of the Golden Cycle company associated with him two personal friends of his who own a block of 800,000 shares in the company, which is a control, as the company is capitalized for 1,500,000 shares. Of the four directors, in addition to Mr. Milliken, G. E. Ross-Lewin and L. E. Hill will act with the president in all matters pertaining to the company. Mr. Ballard and Mr. Campbel are, therefore, in the minority. The majority of the board of directors were in favor of granting the right-of-way to the Short Line while the minority of the board opposed it. Owing to the conditions existing in the directory the majority were able to grant the deed to the Short Line.

A temporary injunction was granted without notice by Judge Seeds in the district court in Cripple Creek. The next step will be an action brought by the Golden Cycle company to have the injunction dissolved. This action will be taken immediately and the case will be brought to a hearing as soon as possible. The two companies who are defendants in the case intend to fight the matter to a finish. K. C. Schuyler appears as attorney for Mr. Fisher, H. McGarry as attorney for the Golden Cycle Mining company, and Judge H. G. Lunt as counsel for the Short Line. The case will be watched with considerable interest owing to the likelihood of the internal affairs of the mining company being aired.

ASTOR STOCKHOLDERS WILL HAVE TO ACT PROMPTLY

On September 15 last a circular was sent to the stockholders of the Astor Mining company explaining to them the condition of the company's affairs and asking the stockholders to subscribe for the treasury stock of the company at $5 per 1,000. As there were 400,000 shares of stock in the treasury at the time, a ready response from the stockholders would have netted $2,000, which would have been sufficient to liquidate the indebtedness and leave some cash in the treasury besides. The note for $1,250 which was given by the officers of the company as security for the loan raised to pay the indebtedness, expires December 15 and must be met on or before that date. As the response of the stockholders has not been as ready as was desired the company desires to call their attention to the fact that unless they respond by November 20 they will not be protected in their holdings. The holders of the note will only protect those stockholders who respond to the notice in case the company has to go through reorganization proceedings, as seems the only course to pursue unless the debt is paid. The officers of the company are endeavoring to act for the best interests of the stockholders in the matter and they are desirous of the stock being taken, as that course will prevent the necessity of resorting to a reorganization.

STRIKE REPORTED ON HAZARD GOLD PROPERTY

A report has reached this city that a strike has been made upon the property of the Hazard Gold Mining company, a Colorado Springs corporation. The property of the company is located three miles north of Crestone, Saguache county in North Crestone canon, on the Hayden dike which runs through the Sangre de Cristo range, north and south. This dike has the name of producing good ore wherever it has been opened up. The present strike was made at a depth of 100 feet in a tunnel, where four feet of $50 ore has been opened up. The company has been engaged in drifting with a view to finding this vein for some time past as the short outcrops on the surface. A tunnel was run in the side of the mountain a distance of 250 feet and at 150 feet the vein was encountered, showing five feet of mineralized matter. A few days ago the breast of the workings began to indicate better values and soon the ore shoot was opened, disclosing four feet of quartz that assays $50 per ton. The walls of the vein are well-defined between porphyry and granite. Taylor Downer of this city is secretary of the company; Thomas Stark, treasurer, and the other directors are W. F. Hazard of Crestone and L. H. Jackson, of Kansas City.

Mining Notes Around Town

CAMP BIRD HAS GREATEST STRIKE IN ITS HISTORY.

According to the Ouray Herald a rumor is current that a big strike has been made in the Camp Bird mine, and if reports circulated regarding it are true it is the richest gold strike ever made in Colorado. The strike is reported to have been made in the west drift, in a blind vein, the existence of which was unknown until the crosscut tunnel penetrated it in the Chicago claim, one of the Camp Bird group, about 3,000 feet west of the main workings. The width of the vein is not yet known, the opposite wall not having been reached. However, 17 feet of ore has been exposed across the vein, the entire vein matter carrying fabulous values in free milling gold. One man says there is a streak running through it that will run upwards of a thousand dollars to the ton, while all agree that the average across the entire vein as far as exposed will exceed $150 a ton.

When it is remembered that the average of the Camp Bird ores did not exceed $24 per ton up to the time Thos. F. Walsh parted with it to the Venture people for $11,000,000, one can begin to see what the new find means to the Camp Bird Limited and to the mining interests of Ouray county. It is the largest and richest body of mineral wealth ever found in Ouray county if not the largest ever found in the San Juan country or the state. It has always been contended by experienced mining men in Ouray that Mr. Walsh sold his Camp Bird too cheap, and now the public generally is convinced of the fact. Had he held it until this hidden treasure vault was discovered it would have taken several millions more to buy it.

The Camp Bird mine is only now about four years old and in production has already passed the four million dollar mark—perhaps has reached five millions. It is only an infant and yet it is one of the greatest gold mines on the continent and is destined to become one of the greatest if not the greatest mine in the world. No mine was ever more rapidly developed and none ever produced such fabulous wealth from the very grass roots. Taking into account the short lapse of time since Mr. Walsh brought down his first flour sack full of samples from the old abandoned dump to have them assayed, it stands without a rival. And yet hardly a beginning has been made in the development of the great property. The surface as it were has been scratched and this has been done only in a few spots. When development has reached the level of the deepest workings of its famous neighbor, the Revenue, it will have produced many times its purchase price and many millions more will be in sight. There is ore enough, it is said, in the 1,000 acres of mineral-bearing ground which constitutes the group, to keep 500 men constantly employed for the next 50 years. This estimate does not take into consideration the presence of blind veins in the group such as the one discovered a few days ago.

SHIPPED ORE WITHIN ONE MONTH OF ORGANIZATION.

The Viola Gold Mining and Development company which is now operating in Russell gulch, has made a record rarely equaled in the mining world. The company was organized on October 9 and was incorporated the same day. Nine claims were purchased, part of which are at the present time in process of patenting. The management at once began work in a thorough and systematic manner and the result has far exceeded expectations. Two shafts have been sunk, one to a depth of 60 feet which gives returns of $20 per ton, and another to a depth of 35 feet in which ore of a value of $15 per ton is found. Each of these shafts has a good body of ore in sight and, while they are not as large as they probably will be after more development work has been done, the ore bodies are sufficiently large to warrant the management in hauling ore to the mills for treatment. The 60-foot shaft has a pay streak 9 inches in width while that in the 35-foot shaft is 35 feet wide. Robert Hastie, one of the best-known and most successful mining men in Clear Creek and Gilpin counties is manager of the property. Mr. Hastie brought the Waltham out as a big producer and was for a long time its manager. He resigned his position as manager of the Waltham in order to devote his entire time to the new enterprise with which he is now associated. He is greatly pleased with the showing the Viola property is making at the present time and believes it will become a heavy producer and one of the heavy payers of the district.

The Viola company is composed entirely of well-known men. The vice president is T. A. Harrington of Chicago, one of the best known railroad men in the country. He is connected with the Western Passenger association. F. N. Turk is president of the company and C. J. Portner is secretary and treasurer. The ore produced by the Viola property is being taken to the Bertha mill for treatment.

Acts Beneficially;
Acts truly as a Laxative.

Syrup of Figs appeals to the cultured and the well-informed and to the healthy, because its component parts are simple and wholesome and because it acts without disturbing the natural functions, as it is wholly free from every objectionable quality or substance. In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal virtues of Syrup of Figs are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Nov. 17.—The mining stock market this morning showed some strength although the amount of trading was light. In the mines list C. K. & N. made a fractional gain; Doctor-Jack Pot opened at the stationary quotation but advanced fractionally on the second sale. Elkton made repeated fractional gains. El Paso was a heavy trader starting at a gain but falling back to Saturday's quotation. Gold Dollar Consolidated made a fractional gain, Isabella remained stationary and Pinnacle scored a slight advance. Among the preferred prospects stationary prices were the rule although there were a few gains. Bob Lee gained $1 per 1,000 shares. C. C. and M. gained fractionally, while Gold Bond and Little Nell remained stationary. Mobile gained to one cent on a block of 25,000 shares. Morning Star remained stationary and Sedan and Uncle Sam made fractional gains. In the prospects list Old Gold scored the only gain and that a fractional one. All other stocks in this list that were traded in remained stationary.

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Report to Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., to Otis & Hough.

New York, Nov. 17.—In sympathy with London prices our market opened with a moderate advance. It was, however, quickly appreciated that there was a general distribution of selling orders from commission houses. Traders were quick to detect this and sold stocks freely during the first two minutes, but a steadier tone was soon to be seen which continued throughout most of the day with rather quiet market and quiet undertone. Moderate gains were recorded throughout the list, Manhattan being exceptionally strong and on advancing tendency a good buying demand was apparent. The market was very professional in character, trading of the element being a factor in the day's trading. London moderate buyer on balance. Call money ruled at 5½ in the early part of the day, but the demand being supplied an easier tone was soon seen. Manhattan held its advance at close. General list, however, continued very dull with fractional declines from the best. Demand, $4.87.

CHICAGO GRAIN & PROVISIONS.

Report of Logan & Bryan to Otis & Hough.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Wheat—Liverpool ⅜ to ⅞ higher, Paris ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher. Market here was firm and fairly active. There are evidences of some local support which has been noticeable the past week. The small increased visible as compared with last year was an encouraging stimulus and decreasing primary receipts also helped. Most favorable conditions is seemingly better tone in foreign markets. Liverpool shows disposition to respond to the strength here. Chicago, however, continues to 1/2 in the improvement. There is on the whole a good cash demand all around, and while the exports are fair, the buying by domestic millers is an important factor. Speculative sentiment among the leading professionals is bullish. Estimated cars, 150.

Corn—Liverpool ⅜ to ⅞ higher, market here was active and strong. The somewhat urgent demand for cash corn continues and old No. 3 corn has been traveling at a premium in view of the December price for No. 2. Similar reasoning in respect to the May makes us feel bullish on that option. It is selling 12 and 13 cents discount, and the short interest in it is large to an unusual degree. The tendency of the weather is unfavorable to the condition of new corn. Speculative buying is, we think, all the time better than the selling. Estimated cars, 245.

Oats—Market quiet and firm, mainly in sympathy with the strength in corn and wheat. It is not an active market either in cash position or in speculative operations. Estimated cars, 285.

Provisions—Market was moderately active and strong. Receipts hogs, 53,000 against 81,000 last year. This is the chief cause of strength. Trade is all looking for a small run of hogs for the next two months and the buying of January stuff on the weak spots continues good.

Metal Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 17.—Tin underwent a severe decline in the London market, registering a loss of about £2 as compared with final quotations of last Friday. Spot closed there at £113, 10s and futures at £112 10s. The market, influenced by the developments abroad and by the general condition of the market, supplies being abundant and the immediate demand light, was also weak and lower, the loss amounting to about 50 points, with spot closing at $25.35@25.50. Copper shared in the tin dullness, but lost only 5s in London, where it closed at £51 2s 6d for spot and at £51 7s 6d for futures. New York prices were unchanged, but the undertone was weak with standard at $10.75, lake at $11.50@11.70, electrolytic at $11.30@11.50, nominal and casting at $11.30@11.50. Lead was steady, but quiet and unchanged here at 4 1-8 and in London at £10 15s.

Spelter ruled dull and weak, being about five points lower locally, where it closed at $5.25. In London it was unchanged at £10 10s. Iron in Glasgow closed at 56s and in Middlesboro at 50s 3d. The local iron market was quiet and unchanged. Warrants continue nominal.

ELGIN BUTTER.

By Associated Press.

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 17.—Butter took another jump of 1½ cents in price today. An offering of 8,400 pounds was not sold, although 27 and 27½ cents were bid. Today the quotation committee declared the market firm at 26½ cents. Sales of the week, 503,000 pounds.

Denver Live Stock.

Denver, Nov. 17.—Cattle—Receipts were heavy, nearly 2,500 head arriving, the bulk getting in late this morning. Shipments were less than 2,000 head, and the yards contain more cattle than on Saturday. The railroads did not furnish the cars promised last week, and dealers are disgusted over the situation, as cattle are arriving freely right along and few are being shipped out. The market opened slow on account of the shortage in cars, as buyers are not anxious to purchase and feed hay for several days. At this time there is no prospect of any relief soon, as the railroads will not make any promises. The market ruled steady on all classes of offerings, though there were not enough sales made upon which to base quotations. There is a healthy undertone to the market, and there is very little prospect of any change this week, as values are very low now. There are some good cattle on the market from the western part of the state, both feeders and fat stuff, which will bring a shade less than $4.00. The run of she stuff to market continues liberal, another good supply arriving today. The bulk of sales were cows that brought $2.80 to $2.85.

Hogs—The hog market has made a sharp advance since Saturday, prices reaching $6.45 at the river markets and about the same here, which is an advance of 15 to 20 cents. Receipts were only fair, but about the usual Monday run. The quality of the offerings was fairly good, with top and bulk selling at $6.40. There is a good demand for hogs on this market this week, and river prices will be paid for all that come.

Sheep—Receipts were the heaviest in some time, over 10,000 head arriving, the bulk consisting of feeders going through. A few sales of feeders and fat sheep found sale at $3.60@4.25 for the lambs and $2.25 for ewes. The market ruled about steady, with fair demand for feeders and good demand for choice muttons.

EXTENSIVE IRRIGATION SCHEME HAS BEEN PLANNED

By Associated Press.

Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 16.—The most extensive hydraulic scheme undertaken in the Arkansas valley in many years has been planned by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company and includes the furnishing of water both for the steel works and for irrigation of several thousand acres of land. Surveys have been going on all summer and three different experimental lines of canal were staked out, the last one beginning at the Royal Gorge, west of Canon City and running to the St. Charles creek south of Pueblo.

Everybody wondered where the company intended to get water for such a big scheme, but now the fact develops that it has purchased a half interest in the Twin Lakes reservoir system which supplies water to the sugar beet lands about Sugar City.

The Fuel company's big ditch will be fifty miles long and include many miles of six foot wood pipe. It can supply water to 20,000 acres of the finest land.

BECOMING A MOTHER

is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

COLORADO CITY, NOV. 18.

BRIEF CITY ITEMS

The Baltimore Oyster House, Waycott building. Oysters, any style. Chicken tamales.

BASKET SOCIAL—There will be a basket social given by the members of St. Mary's Catholic church, at St. Mary's hall on the south side, Wednesday evening.

RUMMAGE SALE—The ladies of the Methodist church will hold their rummage sale today and tomorrow in the new Jackson building in the 800 block. The sale will be open Tuesday evening.

SECOND BALL—Colorado City lodge No. 255, International Association of Machinists, will give their second annual ball on Thursday evening, November 20, at Waycott opera house. Music by the Midland orchestra.

RIFLE CLUB—The Winchester Rifle club met again yesterday and an excellent record was made by both Mr. Tiger and Cecil Slutter, both gentlemen hitting the six, four and two-inch disks in succession, at 100 yards. The club will shoot next Sunday for turkeys.

YEOMEN—The Yeomen of Pike's Peak homestead No. 112, will give an old-fashioned social and dance in Knights of Pythias hall, Colorado City, Monday evening, November 24, 1902. The program will consist of old-time songs and recitations and music after which there will be dancing. The public is cordially invited to attend. Admission 10 cents. Dancing 15 cents extra.

MAKES STATEMENT—The statement recently made through the local papers, in regard to the difficulty between State Secretary Mills and J. B. Stephen, over the latter's statement of his expense account, was somewhat at fault. Mr. Stephen had simply omitted to make affidavit to the statement, and it was returned to him for that purpose.

WILL SAVE THE FOOT—Charley Keller, the 11-year-old son of Mr. John Keller, living on the boulevard, was struck by a street car Saturday while playing with some other boys upon the track. One foot was caught by the wheel of the car, and it was badly crushed. His physician thinks, however, that the foot can be saved. The father attaches no blame to the car men, as the boys have been in the habit of playing perilously near the cars, jumping from one rail of the track to the other.

KILLED IN OKLAHOMA—D. F. Miller, a former resident of Colorado City, and a brother of Ed. Miller, the contractor, was shot and killed Saturday at Gage, Oklahoma. Mr. Miller was a cattleman, and it is understood that the shooting was over some trouble connected with a trade. His brother received the message Sunday, and left yesterday afternoon at 2:30 for Oklahoma.

SCHELLMAN GOT JUDGMENT—In Judge Bates' court yesterday, in the trial of John Schellman vs. Bart O'Brien of a money demand suit for money alleged to be due for labor performed by the plaintiff, Schellman was awarded $1.75 and the costs charged to the defendant. The latter appealed to the county court. Seven cases of common drunkenness were also tried with the usual fine of $5 and costs.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Rensselaer Smith of 421 Lincoln avenue, is on the sick list.

Geo. J. Duncan of Detroit, Mich., is in the city for a few days.

Mr. G. M. Wilson of Denver, is in the city today, visiting Mr. J. T. Walters of the Standard.

Mrs. G. W. Ott, who has been visiting for several weeks at Glasco, Kansas, is expected home today.

Mr. G. L. Bennett received word yesterday of the death of his brother, of heart disease, at Sioux City, Ia.

Ex-Mayor Alva George is in the city for several days, looking after some plumbing work that is being done on his Lincoln avenue property.

Amusements

"THE WRONG MR. WRIGHT."

One of the highly recommended attractions to appear at the Opera house this evening is 'that odd fellow,' Harry Beresford in George H. Broadhurst's laughing success, "The Wrong Mr. Wright." The past season Mr. Beresford toured the western country, and from reports he made such an impression that his next visit is anxiously looked for. It has been said that he has a method entirely his own and unlike that of any other comedian on the American stage; as distinctive as Nat Goodwin or Joseph Jefferson, and every bit as enjoyable. He will be surrounded by a first class supporting company and under the direction of J. J. Coleman, manager of the American theater, New York.

The dramatic editor of the Cleveland Press, who pays his way into the theater and says his say without fear or favor, predicts that Harry Beresford, the young comedian who is in his second tour through the west in Broadhurst's comedy, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," is a "comer" and unless all signs fail will soon have his name displayed in type a foot high. As opera house prices in Cleveland means $2 a seat, the impression left by Mr. Beresford in that city must certainly have been as great as that made by him on his initial tour in the boundless and generous west.

"SIS HOPKINS" COMING.

Crowned with the laurels of merited success, "Sis Hopkins," that delightful pastoral comedy of country life in central Indiana, with Miss Rose Melville in the title role, has been booked for an engagement of one night at the Opera house next Monday evening. "Sis Hopkins" is one of the very few plays which has been before the public in the last 15 years which has human interest enough to hold the attention of theater goers for more than one brief season. In this production, however, there is not only genuine literary and dramatic merit but there is a story which is sweetly and beautifully told, and the character acting of Miss Melville as the awkward and embarrassed country girl suddenly thrown among people from an outside and to her strange world, has become one of the classics of the American stage. Mr. J. R. Stirling, under whose direction Miss Melville has become one of the best known and most popular of native actresses, has given her a most perfect production this season.

MITCHELL'S REPLIES TO ATTORNEY MACVEIGH'S QUESTIONS

hand in the examination and it was brought out that none of the pickets employed by the companies represented by Mr. MacVeagh had been recruited outside of the community.

Mr. MacVeagh then read Governor Stone's proclamation calling out the troops in which the governor said there was a reign of terror in the region. Mr. Mitchell denied the correctness of the governor's assertions.

The eight hour day question was taken up and in reply to a query as to whether he had a right to limit a man's labor to eight hours a day, Mr. Mitchell replied:

"We favor a maximum of eight hours," and a moment later in answer to a similar question, said: "We will accept whatever award the commission makes, and that award will have precedence over the laws of the union."

Then Mr. MacVeagh said: "Abraham Lincoln was splitting rails and he did not limit himself to eight hours, and you demand it not only for the men in the mines, but for all the men above ground as well. He was doing infinitely harder work than nine-tenths of our men employed in the mines above ground. So was Garfield when he was a boy trudging along the path of the canal and so was Mr. McKinley in his early life. I only mention these because they are the three victims of the spirit of anarchy which is the curse of this country today and the only serious curse afflicting it."

Mr. Mitchell took quick notice of the word "anarchy," as employed by Mr. MacVeagh, and with considerable spirit promptly inquired:

"Trade unions are not held responsible for it, are they?"

"No, certainly not," said Mr. MacVeagh. "Trade unions are most admirable, but you make a demand upon us that we shall prohibit every man in our employ from working more than eight hours. That strikes us as perfectly inadmissible."

In answer to further questions, Mr. Mitchell entered into a detailed description of the workings of the union. Mr. Mitchell upon the request of Judge Gray, said that the officers of the union under pay had contributed 37 per cent per month of their salaries for the benefit of the striking miners. The fact was brought out that Mr. Mitchell had had telephone conferences with Senator Hanna just previous to the settlement of the strike of 1900.

"Of course, that was the year in which Mr. Bryan was again a candidate for the presidency," said Mr. MacVeagh, "and you were conscious of the great apprehensions entertained by the financial interests of the country as to the possibilities of his election?"

"Well, I understood they were very apprehensive," was the response.

Mr. MacVeagh asked if any advance secured by the miners was not due to that apprehension.

"I believe," said Mr. Mitchell, "that the fact that an election was pending had something to do with the early settlement of the strike."

Mr. Mitchell denied that he had any conference with the coal operators at that time and said that during the strike Senator Hanna had spoken to him over the telephone and had sent Daniel Keefe, president of the International Longshoremen's union, to see him. He denied that it was through Mr. Keefe he agreed that if the 10 per cent increase was granted that the strike would be called off, but said Senator Hanna had told him the operators had decided to make the offer of 10 per cent.

Mr. MacVeagh here took up the suggestion for a yearly agreement and attempted to show that the union could not control its members, and therefore an agreement is impracticable.

Mr. Mitchell said there were many differences that both sides justly complain of and which, he hoped, would be wiped out by agreements.

"I dare say," Mr. Mitchell remarked, "if our union violates the contract the people of the United States will see that we have no union left and if the operators violate it the people of the United States will see that they regret it."

Mr. Mitchell said this was a country of majorities, whereupon Mr. MacVeagh replied:

"Yes, but God with one is a majority. If a man is doing right he is on his side."

The court room was convulsed when Mr. Mitchell answered that he would be willing to leave the whole dispute to God.

Reverting for a moment to the yearly agreements Chairman Gray announced that the commission had decided to invite Herman Justi, commissioner of the Illinois Operators association, to appear before the commission and to state the conditions existing under the yearly agreements between the soft coal operators and the Illinois miners who belong to Mr. Mitchell's organization. At the suggestion of counsel on both sides invitations will be sent to other soft coal operators, a list of whom will be handed to the commission later.

Mr. MacVeagh, seeking a direct answer to his queries regarding boycotts, asked the witness why he could not use his influence to put an end to boycotting and to further intimidation of men, women and children whose lives have been made unendurable.

Mr. Mitchell responded that it was the very fathers and husbands of this people who had themselves made their families' lives unendurable. Mr. MacVeagh, drawing himself closer to where the witness was sitting, said to him:

"If such cases are shown you until you grow weary of them, as I will show you, will you then agree to take drastic, thorough-going effectual measures to root it out as you would any other deadly, un-American, cowardly, practice?"

This question Mr. Mitchell answered by saying that people have a perfect right to do whatever they choose provided they come within the law.

When asked if he countenanced the stoppage of funerals, the preventing of a physician attending a non-unionist, or any member of his family, Mr. Mitchell declared that he did not.

Mr. Mitchell was handed a photograph of a young woman school teacher, who, it was alleged, had been dismissed from her position because her father had been a non-unionist and was asked if it was fair to rob her of her place on that account. Judge Gray repeated the question. "As a general proposition," said Mr. Mitchell, "I should say no."

[illegible] Pickett [illegible] Case

E. D. Pickett, the colored man who has been in the county jail here for weeks awaiting a new trial on a charge of murder, after having already served several years in the penitentiary, was brought before Judge Cunningham of the district court this afternoon, his attorney, Kenneth M. Laurie of Denver, having made a motion to dismiss the case. The matter was not finally determined, the attorneys being instructed to submit briefs on the subject. The outcome of the case is being watched with considerable interest as it will establish a precedent in this state.

Pickett is charged with killing a man named Frank Davis at Cripple Creek in 1896. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was forthwith sentenced to spend the balance of his natural life in the penitentiary. It is claimed that the court erred in sentencing Pickett without hearing testimony; that the man never had his day in court and upon that ground a new trial was granted him a few months ago. He was brought to the county jail from Canon City, the case coming up here because at the time the crime was committed Teller county was a part of El Paso county.

Judge Cunningham did not want to hear the motion last evening on account of lack of time, but Mr. Laurie was so anxious to present his case that brief arguments were finally heard and the attorneys were then instructed to submit briefs. Deputy District Attorney Black represented the state. Pickett is a young mulatto and his face shows the effects of his long confinement. It has been said that one of the chief witnesses to Pickett's crime is dead and that the other has gone to Alaska.

[illegible] New Yorker [illegible]

G. E. Macklin and valet of New York city are registered at the Antlers. Mr. Macklin arrived at the hotel last evening with his valet and will be followed the first of next week by his wife and little daughter. The family expect to spend the winter in this city and will remain in Colorado Springs, very probably until next May. Mr. Macklin is general manager of the Pressed Steel Car company of Pittsburg. The mills of the company are located at Pittsburg but the general offices are in New York city, where Mr. Macklin and family reside. Mr. Macklin expects to enjoy himself while here and being a great lover of good horseflesh, he has made arrangements to bring out a part of his stable and use them in driving and riding about Colorado Springs. Six of his best horses will arrive in the city in a short time in a special car.

The family are well known in this city as they have spent several seasons here at the Antlers. They have been coming to Colorado Springs for several years until the burning of the old Antlers hotel. "Yes, we have been here a number of times before, myself and family," said Mr. Macklin last night. "We think there is no place like Colorado to visit when the sun forgets to shine in New York."

[illegible] Debate [illegible] With Nebraska

Preparations for the annual debate with the University of Nebraska have already been commenced by Colorado college. The debate will take place in the spring, probably in April, and is looked forward to as one of the chief events of the college year.

The Oratorical association of the college held a meeting last night and appointed a committee composed of Professors Cajori and Ritchie and Messrs. Lake, Van Nostran and Hester, presidents of the three literary societies, to select the questions for the debate.

Washburn college of Topeka, Kansas, would like to enter the oratorical arena and contest with the college here for honors in that line. A letter has been received from that institution asking for two dates a year, one debate to be held in this city and one in Topeka. In the first date can be secured in Topeka it is likely that Washburn will be accommodated.

[illegible] Freight Traffic Managers [illegible] Banquet

B. F. Williams, local commercial agent of the Santa Fe, has received an invitation to be present at the banquet to be given at Albuquerque, N. M., on December 3, to the freight traffic managers of the Santa Fe system. The affair will be given at the "Alvarado," the new depot and eating house of the Santa Fe in Albuquerque, and will be attended by all the freight traffic managers of the principal cities of the entire Santa Fe system. The "Alvarado" has just been completed this year and, as it is one of the finest establishments of its kind on the entire system, it was decided to hold the banquet there this year. The building is built of adobe and constructed along the lines of the old Spanish architecture. The freight traffic men hold a banquet every year at which all the members get together and discuss matters pertaining to their department. Traffic rates, classification and everything of like nature are considered and the banquet turned into a combination social and business session. All of the general and assistant freight agents, and the different commercial agents of the Santa Fe are supposed to be present. Mr. Williams will leave here on the 6th of December to attend the banquet.

TO CHICAGO CHEAP.

A special rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip to Chicago has been made by the Burlington for the great International Live Stock Exposition which will open there November 29th and continue for a week. This is the greatest live stock show of the world and this year promises to be of unusual interest to the western stockmen because of the particular attention being given to the range cattle exhibit, which promises to be larger than ever before. The Burlington route is the popular route with stockmen and the usual fine service will be given to those who desire to attend "the big show."

Tickets will be on sale November 30th and December 1st and 2nd, with a final limit for leaving Chicago on December 8th. See your ticket agent or write for particulars to

GEORGE VALLERY,
General Agent Burlington Route, Denver, Colorado.

DENVER AND RETURN $2.90.

Tuesday, Nov. 18th. Santa Fe will sell tickets to Denver and return at $2.90. Good on all trains of that date and to return following day.

"Fair Topics", a Feature of the St. Mary's Parish Fair

The large attendance of Saturday night was duplicated last evening at St. Mary's fair now in progress at Temple theater. Some, no doubt, feel that to view the decorations well repays the small admission fee; others are evidently attracted by the music, for many take seats in the balcony, but the great majority evidently enter into the spirit of the fair for they gather around the booths which shelter many a tempting bait to separate a man from his gold and give him in return his money's worth and any one who has the spirit of a good time in him can part with a week's wages at St. Mary's fair and feel not at all loath to do so.

St. Mary's Fair association has the distinction of introducing one of the most unique features ever seen in Colorado Springs. At 9:30 o'clock last evening the first edition of "Fair Topics" was published. It is a strictly up-to-date daily for it teemed with items on incidents that happened during the evening. Last night's edition of 50 copies was distributed gratis. The paper will be published each evening under the management of the following veteran printers from the home: Messrs. M. J. McGrath, Jos. P. Fox, B. Magrath, Chas. Gallagher, J. Bryan and T. V. Rorer. It promises to be one of the leading features of the fair. The salutatory explains itself and is as follows:

"In presenting "Fair Topics" to the public in the capacity of the official organ of St. Mary's Parish Fair association, we have no apology for our existence and are not deluded with the idea that we are "filling a long-felt want." It will be our object to publish a daily evening paper during the progress of the fair containing events of official and interesting news character appertaining to the occasion. Actuated only with the incentive to promulgate an interest in the events of the week as brought specially to our notice we must depend largely upon the fair association and our readers to lend assistance in compiling the news. We intend to be strictly unprejudiced and impartial not only in our reference to contestants in the various events and those supervising the numerous booths, but also regarding the public who so kindly extend their patronage. Hoping that our relations with the public will terminate most pleasantly and that our honest endeavor to establish a medium of social intercourse during the progress of the fair will meet with an appreciation compatible to our humble intention, we respectfully solicit your gracious patience and suffrage."

Tonight will be Knights of Columbus night.

The inimitable Joe Newman will appear twice during the evening in original songs and sayings.

Music by the Midland orchestra. Dancing between 8:30 and 11:30. Reserved seats, 10 cents.

The fair is progressing very satisfactorily. It certainly shows great enterprise upon the part of Mrs. E. R. Joyce, president of the fair association, and her very able corps of helpers.

Under the skillful hands of the decorators the interior of the theater has been delightfully transformed into a place of much attractiveness. Each of the booths has been arranged in accordance with the individual taste of those having it in charge, yet all blend in an harmonious and tasteful manner.

In the Orpheus society booth last evening, the ladies in charge were Mrs. Henry Tamm, Mrs. D. H. Sullivan and Miss Donahue.

Those in the Young Ladies Sodality were Miss Roe, Miss O'Hare and Miss Ryan. The Ladies Catholic Benevolent association booth was in charge of Misses Irwin, Dwyer and Langan.

The beautiful booth of the Children of Mary was in charge of the Misses Burns, Miss O'Hare and Miss Jones.

All who saw the Japanese booth will readily concede that none of the booths was more universally admired. An immense Japanese umbrella formed a gay canopy over the head and other ornamentation of an oriental origin embellished every part of the booth. When brilliantly illuminated the scene was a pretty one. The ladies in charge last evening were the Misses Snyder, Miss McCurdy, Miss Lee and Miss Whalen.

The fair is to continue all the week and doubtless the usual success, it is hoped far more, will attend the efforts of those so deeply interested.

Civil Service Examinations Are to Be Held Tomorrow

The regular yearly civil service examination for eligibles to positions in the local postoffice will be held in the banquet room of the I. O. O. F. hall in the McIntyre building, tomorrow morning.

The examination will take place before Clare E. Thomas, secretary of the local board of examiners, and S. B. Gamble and W. F. Kimmer, the other members. The examination will be held at 9:30 and it is expected that it will be taken by at least 15 applicants. There is no vacancy at the present time in the local postoffice, but the law requires that at all first class offices an examination be held every year in order that a list of eligibles may be declared. The examination tomorrow will determine the applicants who are eligible for the positions of clerks and carriers in the Colorado Springs postoffice. In case a vacancy occurs and there be no one eligible, a special examination may be held. This has been done in the local office only twice in the last three or four years.

The examination will last five hours and the applicants will be examined in spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying from plain copy, geography of the United States, and reading the addresses on 25 postal cards or envelopes of letters actually sent through the mail. The last test will be considered an especial one, the applicant being tried in the reading of different names and addresses, different handwritings and different abbreviations. The examination questions are sent from the department at Washington in sealed envelopes and are not opened by the board of examiners until the morning of the examination. The examination papers are sent to Washington for grading.

The Children's Favorite.

One of the greatest difficulties encountered when children are ill, is the objection they have to taking medicine. The remedy must be pleasant or the patience of the parent is exhausted before it is successfully administered. Mr. G. G. Wagner, of Spring Grove, Pa., overcomes this annoyance by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says his little boy always asks for it whenever he catches cold. This remedy has become the children's favorite, as it is pleasant to take and it always cures and cures quickly. For sale by all druggists.

LEHIGH COMPANY PRESENTS ITS CASE TO ANTHRACITE STRIKE COMMISSION

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—The statement of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company submitted to the anthracite Coal Strike commission now in session at Scranton in answer to the demands of the miners, was made public here today. The answer recites the development of the company from the date of its charter in 1822, refers to the expense of operation and to the comparatively small profits and declares the demand of the employes for an increase of 20 per cent. is unjustifiable, the reasons given in support of the demand not being founded on fact. Accompanying the statement are two exhibits. One shows the earnings of the employes of the company for one year based on the time worked during 1901, the number of the several classes of workmen and the rates paid according to the pay roll for the first half of May, 1902. The other is a catalogue of overt acts charged to the striking employes of the company during the recent contest; the riots, assaults and disturbances of various kinds being numbered at upwards of 60.

The answer states:

"The Lehigh Coal & Navigation company is the oldest corporation engaged in the mining of coal in the anthracite region. It was chartered in 1822, and was the successor of the Lehigh Coal Mining company which was organized in 1793. It also acquired certain rights on the Lehigh river which were granted in 1818.

"It owns and controls about 14,000 acres of coal lands in Carbon and Schuylkill counties which are estimated to contain over 500,000,000 tons of available unmined coal. Its employes number about 6,000, and its capacity of production is over 200,000 tons a month. Its capital stock and funded debt amount to upwards of $73,000,000. All of its capital stock and bonds were issued for full value, but although its more important coal lands were purchased at a time when the country was a wilderness and all its lands have been acquired at moderate prices, the dividends upon its capital stock to date only averages 4.02 per cent. The profit on coal mined by the company during the ten years ending December 31, 1901, has averaged 11.09 cents per ton after charging off taxes on coal lands and depreciation, but not including any charge for royalty, which represents the value of the coal in the grounds. Nor were the rates of freight upon the railroad exorbitant as is shown by the fact that the company operated its own canal and found it advantageous to send the coal to market over the railroad rather than by the canal."

Referring to the claim of the miners that better wages are paid in the bituminous fields for substantially similar work, the answer states:

"This company does not know what rate of wages is paid in the bituminous coal fields throughout the country, but there is nowhere in any fields substantially similar work to that which is done under contract in the mines of this company. It is a fact however, that miners of ordinary skill and experience have always been able to go from the mines of this company to any other mining region throughout the country and obtain employment.

"In 1901 for a day of ten hours contract miners earned an average of $3.14 per day; skilled laborers, $2.31; unskilled laborers $1.83; boys, $1 for work underground. The rates for outside labor average as follows: Skilled labor, $1.96; unskilled labor, $1.28; boys 77 cents. The average annual earnings of adults were $475.25."

Denial is made of the claim of the miners that their earnings are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living and concerning the employes of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company, these figures are given:

"Out of 3,063 families, 870 own their own houses. Pianos will be found in 146 and house organs in 337. The company owns and rents to its employes 617 houses at an average rental of $4.75 a month. The character of those houses is fully up to the average in any part of the country occupied by any other class of workmen. It has been the policy of the company to sell surface rights to those of its employes who desire to put up their own houses and for many years there has been a steady demand on this account. The town of Summit Hill has a population of about 3,000 and almost the entire surface, with the dwellings, is now owned and occupied by employes of the company.

"The families of the employes have ample school accommodations with capable teachers and over 3,000 children are in attendance while over 75 per cent. of the whole fund expended in the region is derived from taxes paid by this company on its coal estate."

Regarding the employment of boys the statement says:

"Slate picking is a very easy occupation compared to the work done by the boy upon a farm and many of them are needed to take care of the mine mules and other light work and in this way the wages of the household are largely and legitimately increased. Since 1897 more than 250 young men have gone from Lansford and other villages in the neighborhood to normal schools and colleges and becoming mining engineers, attorneys, dentists, architects, ministers and professors.

"Some of the foreigners prefer to live in a very niggardly and squalid manner so that they may accumulate the larger part of their earnings and return to Europe to live in idleness; but those who have their permanent home in the region have at least $1,000,000 deposited in the banks and saving funds in the vicinity, saved from the wages earned in the employment of this company. The annual remittances to their families and friends abroad, through agencies in the region and vicinity amounted to $150,000 or more. In 1884 the company established a beneficial fund, to which it has contributed the sum of $196,889 and the employes $164,768.

"During the strike in 1900 in which the employes declined to participate, the company in acknowledgement of their loyalty, contributed $25,000 to the beneficial fund." "Since then," the statement continues, "most of them have joined the union and felt bound to join in the strike when ordered last May. No complaint was addressed to this company; no grievance alleged and no request for higher wages made; but without notice, the men left work in a body against their own will and judgment, because required to do so by the vote of the miners employed in other coal fields.

"The claim for a reduction of 20 per cent. in the hours of labor without any reduction in earnings for all employes paid by the hour, day or week, would be peculiarly absurd if enforced against this company.

"It is a point of fact that the breakers of the company are allowed to run only nine hours a day and not ten. The miners only work from five to seven hours a day, and the real difficulty in the region is that contractor labor prices are too high as the men get an amount sufficient for their wants by working less than three-quarters of a day. The men employed by the day work, as a maximum, only nine hours, and as many of them consume from half an hour to an hour in going to and from their work to the foot of the shaft, they do not work even nine hours. As illustrating the influence of the excessive rates paid for contract work it may be said that during normal conditions in April of this year the men working by contract earned only on an average of $3.02 a day, but when it became probable that a strike would be averted the same men earned an average of $4.46 a day.

"The company asserts that payment by weight is impracticable at its mines, as each mine constitutes a distinct problem and the conditions vary from month to month. The only method which has ever given satisfaction at the company's workings it is said, is payment for cutting coal by the lineal yard. The rate of payment can be determined only in each particular case between the superintendent and the miner.

"Some influence, believed to be that of the union," the answer states, "has led the men to reduce the production, but notwithstanding this difficulty it remains true that the only way in which wages can be satisfactorily measured is by contract for the work done which necessarily varies from mine to mine and sometimes between breasts upon the same gangway, and even upon the same breast from day to day."

The company emphatically protests against the miners' demand that there shall be an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America and in this case the answer says:

"The conditions of mining in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions are quite different from those which exist in the Wyoming and Scranton districts. While this company has no objection, therefore, to its own employes organizing among themselves, it has always objected and does object even to an organization which includes other anthracite fields, working under a different system of compensation, as a result of which its men are ordered upon strikes by reason of controversies in which they have no interest.

"It would be still more inexcusable that any outside authority should assume to interfere in the discharge of the employe. Every free man has a right to work when and where he chooses and the employer must possess and be able to exercise the reciprocal right of discharge if he is to maintain discipline."

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN PUEBLO NEWSPAPER MAN

Special to the Gazette.

Pueblo, Nov. 16.—Word was received today of the death at Chicago of Knox Kinney, formerly a well-known Pueblo newspaper man. He passed away at the home of his parents in Chicago of tuberculosis. Mr. Kinney was about 30 years of age and his health had been failing for some time. He went home some months ago, realizing that his case was hopeless.

Prior to coming to Pueblo, Mr. Kinney lived in New York city where he was private secretary to Judge Gary, then president of the old Federal Steel company. He came west on account of his health and was connected for some time with the Pueblo Chieftain. He was conceded to be the most brilliant newspaper man ever in this city. Before coming to Pueblo he was a regular contributor to eastern publications and occupied important positions on different newspapers there. He was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and lived for some years in Madison, Wis., engaged in newspaper work and in the practice of law. Had he retained his health his future would have been very brilliant. While not altogether unexpected the news of Mr. Kinney's death came as a great shock to his Pueblo friends. He left here some months ago and went to New Mexico and Texas in search of health, then finally returned to his Chicago home where death overtook him.

Cured of Asthma

After Years of Terrible Suffering.

Mary Josephine Bety, Floyd Knob, Ind., writes: "After suffering untold agonies for 32 years from Asthma, I was cured by Schiffmann's Asthma Cure. I was so bad that I could not move without help, but I can now do all my own work." Another writes: "My little boy 7 years old has been a sufferer for several years, sometimes so bad off that we could not hold him in bed, expecting any moment for him to breathe his last. Doctors did him no good and we had almost given up in despair, when through accident we heard of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure, tried it and it almost instantly relieved him." Mrs. D. C. Harris, Elbow P. [illegible] CRIPPLE CREEK

Judge Seeds Will Hold an Important Hearing This Afternoon--James Bates Wanted.

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette,

Cripple Creek, Nov. 16.—J. B. Nicholson connected with C. F. Beckwith & Company of Scranton, Pa., is in the city in an effort to locate one James M. Bates, a former resident of the district. Bates was employed as agent to represent the Beckwith company in this district. According to Mr. Nicholson's statement, Bates sold to the Valley City Mining company a McKiernan air compressor, worth $2,250; the compressor was delivered by C. F. Beckwith & Co., and Bates collected $1,850 without making any remittance to his company. Mr. Nicholson arrived here yesterday to get a settlement from Bates, but found that the agent had left for parts unknown.

GAMBLING CASES—Tomorrow will be a busy day in the district court. During the forenoon the perjury and contempt cases against Redford, Wimberly, Killam, Maxwell and Sellars will be heard. The defendants it will be remembered figured quite prominently in the trial of Korch Kuykendall and Hartley J. Lake, the Independence ore thieves, who were convicted of assault with intent to commit murder, and sentenced to the penitentiary. Killam, Maxwell and Mrs. Redford testified in behalf of Kuykendall and Lake and were arrested on the charge of perjury after leaving the witness stand. Sellars, it is alleged, procured the witnesses in an effort to assist the ore thieves in proving an alibi. In the afternoon session of the court, Messrs. John Nolor, Ryan & Hanley, Wat & McConnell, William Walker, W. S. Sexton, E. G. Asmussen and J. G. Kito will appear and show cause why their gambling paraphernalia should not be confiscated and destroyed. Several months ago, faro and roulette tables and layouts in the gambling houses operated by the above parties were seized by Sheriff Robertson and removed to the basement of the county jail. The cases will come up before Judge Seeds.

REGULAR DIVIDENDS—The directors of the United Gold Mines company met yesterday in Victor, and declared the usual monthly dividend of 1 cent a share on the issued capital stock of 4,000,000 shares, amounting to $40,000. The directors of the Gold Coin Mining & Leasing company met at the same time, and declared the usual monthly dividend of 1 cent a share, amounting to $10,000, on the issue of 1,000,000 shares of capital stock. The Gold Coin has paid considerable more than its capitalization in dividends. The first company pays its dividend on the 5th of next month, and the latter on the 25th of this month.

MISHEY VISITED—C. H. Mishey, the victim of the recent assault on the War Eagle mine, for which three men are now under arrest, is not disposed, because of the fact that the suspects are members of the Miners union, to blame that organization for the outrage upon him. A committee from the Cripple Creek Miners union No. 40, comprising three members, called upon Mr. Mishey and secured from him the following signed statement in regard to the Bull hill assault:

"Cripple Creek, Colo.

"I wish to state to the public that I do not lay the blame of the assault upon me on the 10th of November, at the War Eagle mine, upon the union. I don't want the people to think I lay any blame on the union, but just the guilty individuals.

"C. H. Mishey."

ATTENDED FUNERAL—Thomas Welsh has returned from Ouray where he attended the funeral of his 21-year-old son, the late Michael Welsh. Deceased died of pneumonia after a brief illness. Over 300 miners from the Camp Bird and the American Nettie mine followed the remains to the Ouray cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Father O'Rayer.

MARKEY'S FUNERAL—Services were held at the Episcopal church at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. C. R. Schofield over the body of W. Markey, who died Thursday as the result of injuries sustained at the John A. Logan mine. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in this district. Interment was made at Mt. Pisgah cemetery.

BRIBERY CHARGED—W. H. Waters and C. H. Young, school directors in district No. 10, will be served with warrants by Constable Tom Reynolds, charging them with the acceptance of bribes. District No. 10 lies east of Love, and the defendants live in that locality. The warrants have been issued from the office of Justice Harrington, on complaint of F. C. Stumpf and J. F. Beezley, residents of district No. 10. It is alleged that Young and Waters accepted $25 each as inducements to make their purchase of pianos for schools from the traveling representative of a musical concern.

Miss Laura M. Giles of Colorado Springs, is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Stark at their home on Placer street.

BOWLING—The second bowling match between the Victor and Cripple Creek bowling teams was pulled off tonight at the Victor alleys. In the two games for $25 a side Cripple Creek has won by 182 pins. The high score for Victor tonight was 216 by Mance and for Cripple Creek 207 by Henderson.

LOST MONEY—C. C. Miller, liveryman, doing business on West Bennett avenue, lost $100 in bills from his desk this afternoon. He has had Elmer Russell, 18 years of age, arrested charged with the theft.

Joseph Shea, who was severely burned last evening by a gasoline explosion in Chafee's drug store, is getting along nicely today, and his injuries it is thought will not prove serious.

GILLETT

Special to the Gazette.

Gillett, Nov. 16.—Petitions are in circulation to have Father Victor reinstated to his charge in the Gillett church. The removal of Father Victor without a hearing or consultation with those most vitally interested, raised a big howl. Father Victor has been in Gillett for six years past, and during all of that time he has led a most exemplary life, and the beautiful church here, is due entirely to his untiring energy and zeal. The people of Gillett, regardless of religious belief, are earnestly urging that the father be reinstated and allowed to remain with them.

Frank Sherman, the town marshal, lost a novel bet on the election. He made a bet with the editor of the Gillett Forum, that in case the Republicans carried the state, he would wear a large placard on his back, printed with the words, in large letters: "I am a Democrat," and to make a speech under each of the arc lights. In case the Democrats won the editor was to do likewise, with the reading of the sign changed.

Miss Ethel Ricken, entertained a number of friends at her home the middle of the week. A variety of games were played, and all spent a very enjoyable time.

John Heslin, E. F. Woodruff and R. G. Wilcox were visiting at Rosemont this week.

Peter Barth, an old-timer of Gillett, arrived from Leadville on Thursday, and has since been paying his old friends a visit.

The B. G. N. club was delightfully entertained on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Saunders. An elaborate supper was served to the guests.

The first of the week James Parfet and Professor J. H. Williams left on a professional visit to examine some mining property in Park county in the interest of an eastern corporation. They returned yesterday.

The Terminal depot at this city is being repainted and remodeled, and will present a very attractive appearance when the work is completed.

Considerable inquiry is now being made for Gillett and surrounding mining property.

Mrs. O. W. Keith is visiting friends in California.

ALTMAN

Special to the Gazette.

Altman, Nov. 16.—John Iler is confined to his home from a severe attack of quinsy.

J. B. Neville spent yesterday in this city on Free Coinage business. His home is in Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Moore are confined to their beds with a serious illness.

C. B. Frazier, a mining man from Gilpin county, was here yesterday looking after his mining interests.

INDEPENDENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Independence, Nov. 16.—Christopher Luchs, aged 65 years, well known all over the district, died at 1:30 yesterday afternoon from heart failure, and the funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. Interment was at Sunnyside.

Mrs. C. O. Wiley, sister of Mrs. D. C. Copley, accompanied by her little son, Damon, is spending a week here from her home in Pueblo.

Yesterday D. C. Copley returned from Florence, where he has been spending the last week.

President Charles Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, whose home is in Denver, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Copley in this city.

Mrs. A. Messeroad has returned from a business trip to Pueblo.

J. A. McGraw is home after a visit of three weeks at Boulder and other points in that locality.

Harry Williams, Bob Roland and George Spendiff left yesterday afternoon for Bisbee, Ariz., where they expect to put in the winter mining.

The Palate vs. The Stomach.

The average woman who considers what she shall eat, asks herself, "What will taste good?" She rarely remembers that the object of eating is to provide nutrition to sustain the body and that the palate does not determine the nutritive value of food. The consequence is that she makes a lunch of ice cream and cake, helped out by a little candy and thinks she has been fed. Instead of that she has only been filled. She has called the digestive system into activity for practically no purpose, except to ask it to make bricks without straw—to nourish the body with material in which there is little, if any, nutrition.

It must be said that the men are not far behind the women in this respect.

They eat pie and doughnuts for lunch because these "taste good," without the slightest regard to the nutritive purpose of eating, and in general have not the least idea of the nutritive value of the food they eat.

It is true that natural food products, such as fruits, vegetables, etc., appeal to the palate and tempt it, and are the better therefor. The evil is that in what might be called artificial foods—foods not grown but manufactured; the palate is tempted by flavors, sauces and condiments to its own deception to the injury of the stomach and the loss of nutrition. Eat sparingly of simple foods at regular times and there will be little use for doctors. It is the pandering to the palate at the expense of the stomach which brings stomach disease and its attendant evils.

SPILT MILK.

"It's of no use to cry for spilt milk," says the proverb. It is no use to regret irregular and careless eating when the mischief is done and dyspepsia or some other form of stomach trouble has fastened its hold upon us. The thing to do then is to cure the disease, and get back again to the old condition of health.

The quickest way to cure indigestion and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Its cures are permanent because they are perfect. The cause of disease is removed and the body restored to a condition of sound health.

"I was troubled a long time with dyspepsia, torpid liver and constipation," writes Mrs. Julia E. Deal, of Ostwalt, Iredell Co., N. C., "could scarcely eat anything at all; would have attacks of pain something like colic, and sometimes it seemed as though I could not live. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, stating my condition, and in a few days received a kind letter of advice, telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took four bottles, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and now I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me. I have not been in bed a day since I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have not taken any medicine in twelve months. I feel under lasting obligations to Dr. Pierce for my good health, for well do I know he is the one who cured me."

It is peculiar to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it accomplishes cures which seem absolutely wonderful. The test of a superior man is his ability to do something which others have tried and have failed in doing. That's the test of a superior medicine. It is under this test that the astonishing curative power of "Golden Medical Discovery" becomes evident. When doctors and other medicines fail the use of the "Discovery" results in a lasting cure. Such a cure is illustrated in the testimonial of Mrs. Harrison, which follows:

"My sister (of Arlington, Washington Co., Nebr.), was taken very sick and had several doctors," writes Mrs. C. L. Harrison, of Elk City, Douglas Co., Nebr. "They could not do her any good and told my mother they would not come any more, as no doctor could help her, that she could not get well. She had 'wasting of the digestive organs.' My mother said to my sister, 'Well, I almost know that Dr. Pierce's medicines will cure her.' So she bought six bottles, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' three of 'Favorite Prescription' and some of the 'Pellets;' and now my sister is a well woman."

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

ARE YOU AN EXCEPTION?

If you have disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, and are not cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, you will be an exception to the rule proved in over thirty years of experience and by the cure of hundreds of thousands of people. It may not cure you. There are two people in every hundred who are only helped but not entirely cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery." You may be one of the two per cent. instead of one of the ninety-eight per cent. who are perfectly and permanently cured. But the chances of cure are overwhelmingly in your favor.

Sometimes a dealer tempted by a little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." Refuse it.

Funeral of Brakeman Charles Billington to Be Held Today

Funeral services of Charles Louis Billington, the Rio Grande brakeman who was killed last week, will take place this morning at Fairley's undertaking parlors at 10 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Wilcox officiating. The wife of the deceased and his son have arrived here from Louisville, Ky., to be present at the funeral. The interment will take place here. There are four other children in Louisville.

Billington is supposed to have met death from a fall from his train, a freight, bound south. The accident took place near Fountain. Billington, who was head brakeman, was missed when the train reached Pueblo and a search resulted in the discovery of his body. It was near the point where the Santa Fe has an overhead crossing over the Rio Grande tracks. It is supposed that Billington was startled by being struck by the warning "ropes" placed about a hundred yards from overhead bridges to notify the trainmen who happen to be standing erect on the trains of approaching danger and that he lost his balance and fell to the ground.

His name was tattooed on his arm and this, with some papers found on his body were the means of locating his relatives in Kentucky. He had worked here but a short time.

REVIVAL SERVICES BROUGHT TO A CLOSE LAST NIGHT

Last night closed the revival services which have been in progress at the First Methodist church for the past three weeks and the church auditorium was crowded to the doors. Throughout the meetings have been very successful and Evangelist Charles Cullen Smith, who has been in charge of them, assisted by C. R. Colburn, was given a rousing farewell meeting.

From Colorado Springs the evangelist goes to Longmont in the northern part of the state, but he will first make a brief visit to Chicago to get some rest, as his labors here have been very arduous. He will leave at 1 o'clock today. His discourse last evening was excellent and was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it. Music was furnished by a quartet of young boys, and Messrs. Smith and Colburn also rendered several duets.

REPORTED THEFT OF CATTLE A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT

What was at first thought to be a wholesale cattle steal Saturday night, seems to have been a tempest in a teapot. It was reported that two men had ridden up to the Cochran-Massey Dairy company's pasture about midnight and had driven away 150 head of calves. Undersheriff Grimes, Deputy Sheriff Dayton and Police Officer Schofield hastened to the scene, but as far as they could learn but two calves were missing, and it is understood that they had been purchased by James Graham at the slaughter house. R. R. Cochran and E. T. Massey, the owners of the dairy, are out of the city and the folks at the farm reported the supposed theft to the officers.

FACTORY COLORADO SPRINGS.

S[illegible] COLD WEATHER RE[illegible] ELECTIONS [illegible] FANS

"Jimmie" Congalton, the Guelph outfielder who has been with Colorado Springs in the Western league, during the past season, has received a flattering offer to play right field for Cincinnati next year. He is anxious to break into National league company again, and will join the "Reds" if he can secure his release from the Springs. It is not likely that the minor league club will let him go without purchase money, but Cincinnati is sparing neither pains nor money to get together a good team, and Congalton will, in all probability, be found with the Cincinnatis next spring. He batted .335 in the Western league, and is sure to make good.—(London, Can., Press.

Congalton started last season as an outfielder with Selee's Chicago National team. For a time he was regarded as a phenom and batted and fielded like a fiend. Then he experienced one of those strange slumps in his work which comes to every ball player at some stage of his career. Unfortunately for Congalton it came to him before he had established himself firmly as a member of the recruits and, therefore, he was "stuffed off." Manager Burns of Colorado Springs, took him on and Congalton finished the season here. He improved wonderfully in his work and barring another unlooked for slump he should be able to deliver the whole pelt with the Nationals in 1902.

Congalton started his baseball career in 1898 with Hamilton, Ontario, (International) team. He was with the Milwaukee team of the old Western during the latter part of the season. In 1900 he was with the Wheeling, W. Va., (Interstate league) team, and in 1901 he was with the Minneapolis team of the Western. He is a young, willing fellow and was quite popular with the local fans.

Manager Armour of the Cleveland American league team includes the name of Starnagle in his list of reserved and signed players for next season. Starnagle finished the season of 1902 with Armour and made good all right, but the Cleveland man already has two star catchers on his list, including Bob Wood, an old reliable, and Bemis, a find. It was announced some time ago that Manager Burns of Colorado Springs had secured Starnagle for his 1903 staff, and it is presumed that his signature is subject to Armour's call. It is unlikely that the Cleveland man will want to use three catchers, especially when he has two such good men as Wood and Bemis on hand. Armour has signed a total of 17 pitchers, and if Burns' drag with him extends very far he might pick up a couple of good men. His list includes his four stars of last year, Bernhard, Joss, Wright and Moore, and a whole raft of minor leaguers.

There are many Colorado Springs fans who will fully concur in what Frank Genins of the Omaha team, says in the following dissertation: "The best pitchers with the Western league of 1902 were, in my opinion, Weimer and Gibson, of Kansas City, and Brown and Owens, my Omaha team mates. All of them will be in major league company next season and I think the four will finish with the fast ones. Gibson was the hardest pitching proposition we ran up against in the last race and the twirling talent in the league was high-class. We beat Gibson in a record game by making three runs in the last inning on a group of infield errors. Not one hit was credited to our team that afternoon, and until the ninth, it did not look as if we had a chance to score. I have seen, heard and read of hard luck games, but I consider that of Gibson's the toughest experience in the history of baseball. He is a young fellow, who not only has class as a pitcher, but possesses excellent habits, and is ambitious and intelligent. I have no doubt as to Weimer. Jake has the goods, and all he needs is a heady catcher to help him to deliver them to advantage. I don't mean that he lacks baseball brains, but he depends too much upon his speed. That's why he was hit hard at times last year. He was unbeatable when he sandwiched curves with his fast ones, and occasionally served up a slow one. Selee will see this is done, and big Jake will be one of the National's premier pitchers. Brown and Owens are all right and I look for each to show it by his work."

Norman Brashear has at last come forward with a statement concerning himself which is rather interesting. He says: "In the summer of 1901 I was taken sick in Kansas City and Tebeau told me I could go to any other team and finish the season, but could not have my release. Colorado Springs was then playing in Kansas City and I fixed up a deal with Hulen. Tebeau owed me 11 days pay when I left. I played two games in Colorado Springs and then got a letter from Tebeau telling me to stop playing and report to him in Kansas City. He said I was suspended and fined, and notified the umpire not to allow me to play. He went to Denver a couple of days after and I went up there to see him, but he wouldn't talk to me. He told me to see him in Kansas City if I wanted to talk to him. So I was out railroad fare back to Kansas City, my expenses while I was in Colorado Springs and the 11 days' pay that was due me. At the end of the season he came around with a contract and told me if I would sign it he would give me $100 advance money. I noticed it was a Western league contract, which did not specify the club with which I was to play, so I signed it and got $75. He said he would send me the other $25, but I had no intention of playing with him. Then I signed with McKibben and got advance money, and so I wrote to Tebeau not to send me the other $25. We were about even on the deal and I didn't jump my contract. I played in the Western league last year. I had good reasons for not going to Colorado on the last trip."

Those who admired the J. Ira Davis style of coaching and playing will probably have an opportunity to see him next year in this circuit. "Slats" has had the western people at his feet for three seasons and has tired of the admiration and adulation he has excited there, so is coming back here under Manager Harrington's control. The latter says Davis is to have full sway, both as captain and manager, but it's a long time before the season opens.—(New Haven Register.

"Owing to the Disag[illegible] Features of [illegible]"

"Owing to the disagreeable feature of night trade—" read a man standing in the entrance of McRae's cafe gazing at a large black typed sign which was posted on the glass of the swinging doors. He read over the words two or three times and then slowly and thoughtfully wended his way into Ward's drug store.

"Say, Ward, what's the disagreeable features of night trade?" he demanded. "If you mean me—"

"You see it's this way," began Mr. Ward, who is one of the proprietors of the cafe. "We've found that this trade which comes into a restaurant after nightfall is not worth the candle. It's no good. Along about midnight and thereafter it's altogether too boisterous. Just why a person should accumulate a lot of conversation water and then go into a restaurant with a firm determination to make all the racket he can is something I cannot explain, but they do it, and that's one of the disagreeable features. They want to run a man's business and if you remonstrate with them they get 'sore' about it. It don't pay to put up with that sort of thing all the time and so we've decided to cut out the night business altogether. The day trade is as nice as anyone could want and it's enough to pay us. We will therefore close the cafe hereafter at 9 o'clock and avoid the worry of looking after the aforesaid disagreeable features."

McRae's cafe, which, since it was started here, has been one of the prominent all-night eating establishments, therefore closed at 9 o'clock last night and will follow out that rule in the future.

Engineer Stiffler Was Brough[illegible]

Fred Stiffler, a well-known Colorado Midland engineer, who was injured in the head end collision near Rifle Saturday evening, was brought to Colorado Springs last night, arriving here at 9:45. He was taken to St. Francis hospital, where he is reported as resting easily although badly injured.

Ministers Will Compete [illegible] Wood-Sawing [illegible]

Ministers of the city will compete in a wood-sawing contest this afternoon that should be as unique as it is unusual, although several of the divines who expect to take part say that they had good training for it in their earlier youth. The Ministerial association has been invited to take dinner at the City hotel at 1 o'clock as the guests of the Helping Hand wood yard, and they will accept the "bid." After dinner they will saw wood. Last year Rev. Mr. Burleigh and Dr. Wilcox divided honors in a similar contest.

The ministerial meeting will be held at the First Baptist church. The subject for discussion will be a continuation of the "Distinctive Characteristics of Denominations" and the following will take part: Presbyterian, Dr. Boyle; Congregationalists, Manly D. Ormes; Episcopalians, A. N. Taft; Unitarians, A. B. Scott.

Dean Hart Spoke Last [illegible] at First Presbyterian C[illegible]

The second sermon in the series of six on "Denominationalism" was preached in the First Presbyterian church last night, Rev. H. Martyn Hart, dean of St. John's cathedral in Denver, was the preacher, and a better exponent of the Episcopalian church would be hard to find. The congregation was a fine one, the lecture room being thronged into the main auditorium and the aisles being filled with chairs.

The dean is a believer in the essential unity in all who believe in Christ as a savior and in the church as a school for the graduation of holy character, but he does not believe it possible in this age to reach uniformity in matters of government and practice. Eminently fair in his attitude toward all who happen to differ from his church in matters non-essential, the dean is, by birth and choice, an Anglican, though distinctively of the low church pattern. He, in a very outspoken way, deplored the tendency toward sacerdotalism in the mother church in England, and pleaded for the purity and simplicity of the church once delivered to the saints. The sacrament of the Lord's supper, he contended, was not a saving means of grace, as Roman Catholics contend, but it rather meant for Christian nurture and comfort. The Word of God alone giveth life when accepted by faith. He defended the three-fold order of the Episcopal ministry, bishop, priest and deacon and spoke at length of the origin of the liturgical form. He specially commended the order of the prayer-book in the emphasis it places upon the succession of Christian doctrines. His arraignment of the work of the higher critic was a severe one and his whole sermon was a powerful apologetic in defense of the orthodox position as against the latitudinarian drifts of the present day. The sermon was close to an hour long and was listened to with rapt attention to the last word.

Dr. Braislin, of the First Baptist church, was announced to speak on the subject, "Why I Am a Baptist," on next Sabbath evening.

Best Liniment on Earth.

I. M. McHany, Greenville, Tex., writes, Nov. 2, 1900: "I had rheumatism last winter was down in bed six weeks; tried everything, but got no relief, till a friend gave me a part of a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. I used it, and got two more bottles. It cured me and I haven't felt any rheumatism since. I can recommend Snow Liniment to be the best liniment on earth for rheumatism." For rheumatic, sciatic or neuralgic pains, rub in Ballard's Snow Liniment, you will not suffer long, but will be gratified with a speedy and effective cure. 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

POOL TOURNAMENT BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Beginning Wednesday evening the first pool tournament of the season will be commenced at Duff's billiard parlors. There will be a large number of entries, and the event promises to be quite interesting. The management has offered a handsome gold medal as first prize; Messrs. Strang and Garrett have contributed second and third prizes, and there will be a box of cigars as consolation prize. The preliminaries will commence at 9:30 Wednesday evening, and each pair of players will play a game of 150 ball pool.

Some of the fastest hounds in the country will be in Colorado Springs next Sunday, if the plans of Joe Kenyon do not miscarry, to take part in a coursing meet here. All have figured in the big contests in St. Louis and other parts of the east, and the meet here should prove a remarkable test of speed.

Lord Butte of Denver, winner of the chief event of the St. Louis meeting and acknowledged to be one of the greatest greyhounds ever slipped, will probably come. He is owned by the Bartels of Denver. J. E. H., the fast puppy owned by Alderman James E. Hanley of Cripple Creek, is also coming. J. E. H. was runner-up in the futurity at St. Louis. Pascal Poe, of Pueblo, owner of Mountain Lion and other famous dogs, will be here with Bounce, runner-up at Sutton, Nebraska, and a dog of great promise. Mr. Kenyon himself will enter Oh Me, Oh My, a youngster from which great things are expected. It will therefore be a four cornered event with Colorado Springs, Cripple Creek, Denver and Pueblo figuring in it.

Yesterday Mr. Kenyon and a party were out, but failed to get anything, although they had a couple of good runs.

[illegible] Baseball [illegible]

Great interest is being taken in the coming game of indoor baseball between the teams representing the city firemen and the police department, which is to be played at the Temple theater on the night of November 27, preceding the firemen's annual ball. The game will be for blood as the greatest good natured rivalry has been stirred up around the South Nevada city hall. Both teams are practicing hard and the game will be played strictly on its merits.

More attention is being paid to indoor baseball in Colorado Springs this winter than ever before. This is largely due to the firemen, who have fostered the game for a long time. It is believed that, if the proper efforts were made, eight, four or six teams could be organized into a regular league and games played every night. There is much more excitement and much more skill required in the playing of indoor baseball than the average person thinks. The same situations as are possible in regular baseball may exist in the indoor game and this is certainly an assurance of plenty of excitement.

Local sports are taking some interest in the fight which is to take place in Pueblo Friday evening between Frank Newhouse and Jack Bennett of Cripple Creek. Quite a number will go down from here to see the mill. It is reported that there has been a large sale of tickets and the little arena at the Rovers club will be packed.

Newhouse is well known here, although he has never appeared in the ring in this city. He worked for "Billy" Hulen at the baseball park for awhile and established a reputation for being about as "grouchy" a mortal as ever came down the high road. However, Frank can go a little within the confines of the roped arena and he should be able to give the Cripple Creeker a strong argument for twenty rounds. In fact, he stands to win from the gold district fighter at that distance. Newhouse has been east for some time doing a little of everything. He was in Young Corbett's training camp for a while and has turned his hand to any vocation that would bring in the almighty. He has not fought for some time, but reports from Pueblo indicate that he is getting into good shape.

Bennett's last fight was with Dick Green of Chicago, who came to this neck o' the woods under the wing of Cal Harris. Green was beaten in jig time at Cripple Creek by Bennett and soon after "Dago Mike" the Leadville boy, put a quietus on Harris, his manager, in a brief argument. Bennett in the ring looks and fights like a miniature edition of Bob Fitzsimmons. He has met some pretty good men in his ring career and is said to be coming faster than ever. A good many of the top notchers in his class are a little afraid of the Cripple Creek man. The fight Friday night should be worth seeing at all events.

American and Western Magrates Still Talking It Over.

OFFERS AND COUNTER OFFERS

But They Cannot Get Together Upon a Common Ground as Yet—Both Sides Have Schemes to Settle the Warfare.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Representatives of the American association and the Western league baseball clubs met here today to try to effect a settlement of the warfare that has existed for the past year between the two organizations. The trouble was caused by both leagues placing teams in Milwaukee and Kansas City and unless both sides make further concessions no agreement will be reached.

Separate meetings were held by both leagues and two propositions were agreed to and submitted to a board of arbitration composed of members of the National Association of Baseball Leagues. This committee will meet here tomorrow morning to consider the propositions.

The American association in its first proposition suggests that both leagues retain their clubs in Kansas City and Milwaukee without a conflicting schedule. In their second proposition it asks the Western league to withdraw from both Milwaukee and Kansas City and in return for this concession Van Brunt of the Western league is to be given a half interest in the Kansas City American association club.

In its communication to the arbitration committee the Western league stated that it refused to sell out in Kansas City and proposed that the American association sell its Kansas City club for $20,000. The Western league's second proposition is that the American association give up Kansas City and the Western league will relinquish Milwaukee.
